Cover Story

BIS CH. LICOS KULU LA

Kulu's birthdate was May 19th 1956. He was out of the first litter of Ch. AmericaIs Leng Kong ex Ch. AmericaIs Rika. He had two litter sisters; Kulu got his color from his dam, and he was registered sable, because that was what he looked like — sable skins, red gold with black overlay. He was a normal little puppy in size. In those days I weighed my puppies every week. His coat kept growing profusely and at six months was about touching the ground. He weighed ten pounds which we found over the years was normal weight. When mature he weighed fifteen and one half pounds and was ten inches at the shoulder.

He was known for his excellence of type. Many judges have told me he was one of the best put together dogs of any breed they had their hands on, thus his beautiful movement. He received his Champion Title undefeated, and was shown locally for several years, getting many B.O.B. and Group placings. He was only campaigned one year in 1961 by the well known handler Maxine Beam. In that year he got four Best In Shows and nineteen group firsts, including group First at the Spring Chicago International Show. He was B.O.B. in 1962 and 1963 at the Westminster Show placing in the group. Down from Kulu are many of the top winning dogs in the United States, Canada, England and France. Kulu held the record for top winning dog in the Breed for 5 years.

PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

This could be considered a year end message, although at this sitting it’s early November, however what is true now will probably also be true as 1973 turns to 1974.

Our Lhasa continues to grow in popularity and no doubt our breed will have a higher ranking on the breed list. What is more important is the quality continues to improve, a wider variety of Lhasas are placing in the group and more consistently. I think we will agree that for the most part the judging is better. Most judges are now looking for the overall balance of our breed. It was not too long ago that many judges would put a dog up (or down) on the basis of a single point such as color, bite, or size. There still are many judges who have not tried to learn our breed and judge on the aforementioned qualities or lack of them. Only we can change this pattern. Try to educate them. This could be done by a breed standard letter submitted by our breed standard committee. If some judges persist in putting up specimen that lack the overall quality, then it is up to you to become active in your all breed clubs and let your show chairmen know your wishes. The local or regional Lhasa Apso Clubs could be most helpful in this direction.

Each year I continue to see an improvement in the attitude of the breeders and exhibitors toward each other. Less and less I see and hear the words “pure” and “mongrel.” This is a healthy sign, as it shows that many are finally maturing in their breed practices and do realize that one has the right to show and breed to his or her best ability and advantage. There is still some pettiness. I am sure those who persist in this direction know who they are and most know that soon they will no longer be part of our family of true Lhasa breeders.

Am pleased to report that Mr. Carlberg has given me a further favorable comment on our pending AKC status and it is my sincere hope that the approval will come sometime during the winter months.

I would like to point out Bobbie Wood’s article on obedience. It is very interesting and please note that hair may be put back. I know this is something everyone in obedience has wished a ruling on. If you are penalized by a judge, please let Bobbie or myself know so we may officially inform him.

Mary Croninger and Pat Chenoweth have formulated some tremendous plans as historians for our breed. These plans will be given to you later.

Raena Wilks is again doing a fine job on our February (pre Westminster) Annual Awards Dinner. We are hoping to relieve the hectic meeting previous to the dinner so we may all have a better social meeting.

In closing, as we look forward to the New Year and AKC recognition, I am submitting to the board the name of Al Likewise as a temporary AKC delegate. Since Al is well aware of our club working and also his interest and dedication as a member and a past president merits this honor.

My sincere thanks for the great cooperation of you the members and our great working committees who have made this our best year.

Signed,

Bob Sharp

LHASAS IN OBEDIENCE

When I was asked to take over the obedience committee, our president Bob Sharp asked me to look into a problem that has existed for years—the heavy fall over the eyes while the Lhasa was working in obedience. Most Lhasa owners normally tie the fall back everyday to prevent injury to the eyes and loss of hair due to chewing. In the breed ring a handler carries a brush or comb and makes sure the fall does not disturb the dog so he will show his best. However, in the obedience ring a handler may not touch his dog during an exercise, thereby leaving the dog at the mercy of the fall. My dog, for example, has just enough fall that in one shake it is in his eyes and mouth. He, then, rubs and paws at his face in order to remove this hair, loosing all concentration.

When I contacted Mr. James Dearinger, Obedience Chairman at the AKC, he was unaware that this was a problem. The AKC Rules for Obedience states a dog must be shown in obedience as he is shown in breed. Having no experience with our breed, Mr. Dearinger went to other members of the AKC staff. He found that a Lhasa Apso may be shown either with the fall hair up or down in the breed ring and therefore rules that he may be shown either way in obedience.

I would like to point out that I think the key to this ruling is "as he is shown in the breed ring." This means that even with the hair tied back there should be an attempt to make the Lhasa fall look natural. Braids, barrettes, ribbons and wild hairdos have no place in either ring, but two side rubber bands do a competent, neat job to which no judge could object.

I have had many responses from members who are interested in obedience. A most enthusiastic advocate of Lhasas in obedience is Mrs. Virginia Murphy of Arion Lhasa Apsos. She lives in Phoenixville, Pa. and has just completed a C.D. on her bitch ARION ELLEN. Mrs. Murphy has a great deal of experience in obedience and would be most willing to help anybody in her area seeking advice or help with their Lhasas. She finished ARION ELLEN, C.D. in three consecutive shows with scores of 190, 187, and 182½. She is now starting to work toward her C.D.X. The other Lhasa to achieve this honor this month is my own RGYAL BO-JANGLES, C.D. He also finished in three consecutive shows with scores of 184½, 185, and 187. Congratulations to these two happy Lhasas. In the next months I hope I will hear from more Lhasas in obedience.

Signed,

Barbara Wood

SHOW GROOMING

Before I begin, this article on grooming, I must emphasize the fact that it is impossible to get a dog who is not in condition physically into good show condition. Good physical condition is a combination of both diet and exercise. Both vitamins and oil are a must in the diet. With winter now upon some of us I recommend that the amount of oil you now use be increased.

Now back to coat conditioning for show. Frequent bathing is the secret to my success. Since I am not only conditioning coats on my own personal dogs, but also condition client’s dogs for my husband, who is a licensed handler, it is more important than ever to grow the coat and then maintain it.

The show dogs are bathed once a week. I use a commercial pet shampoo. I do not use a cream rinse but do use No-Tangle when the dog is removed from the bath. The dog is then immediately dried with a cool or warm blow dryer. Do not use a very hot dryer. I gently start to separate the hairs with a pin brush as the dog begins to dry. Too heavy a hand can cause a lot of coat damage. I keep a damp towel over the parts of the coat I am not doing and gradually remove sections of it as I dry the dog. Working with a wet coat under the dryer makes it easier to get the coat nice and straight.

At the show I have very little grooming to do as most of the work was done at home. First I start with a very wide toothed comb. I work it through the very tips of the coat to get any tangling out. Gradually and carefully I work the comb higher until the complete dog is done in this manner. I go next to a medium size comb and do the same thing. When this is finished it is possible to go through the entire coat with the very small comb, that is usually used around the face, without hitting one tangle. When you can do that you know that your dog is thoroughly groomed. If you want to brush the dog now you can go ahead, with your pin brush, but make sure that none of the pins are bent. The most unorthodox part of my grooming is that I groom dry. I do not use any oils or sprays. Then, of course the part is made and I use a little cream to help keep the head coat out of the eyes and off we go into the ring. When the dog is finished the head coat is put up. I like to use braids because I find they don’t mat. The coat is then basically forgotten until the next week when it is time again to be bathed for a show. Except for grooming the head coat and very rare occasions when the dog has made a mess of himself, I do not touch that coat again. I do not use any oils on the coat or wrap it. Probably, I spend less time on each individual dog than most of you who are reading this.

If you want to get a dog into show coat I suggest the above formula, but use it at two week intervals. It has never failed for me even with some of the worst coats I have worked with. Let me further suggest the use of a snood when the dog eats. This will keep the coat on his ears, face and beard out of his food and prevent him from eating it along with his dinner.

THE PANDA BEAR TREE
A Christmas Story about a Lhasa Apso

It was a crisp night in December, the stars were out, glittering above the city. Glittering as were the colored lights adorning the houses and streets. We had been skiing that day and full of the atmosphere of the snow-country, decided to pick out our Christmas tree.

Along with us on this venture, came PANDA BEAR, a six-month old fat, furry young Lhasa Apso. As we drove into the gaily lighted lot, Bear’s eyes began to sparkle as he observed the scene from my arms. Straining and struggling, he finally gained his freedom only to dash up and down each row of trees stopping at first one and then another, standing up on his little hind legs, head thrown back, sniffing the air. He completely ignored the fancy flocked trees in whites, pinks, golds, and blues, and concentrated only on the real trees, those clothed in the aromatic splendor of green needles. He looked and acted as if he were choosing “HIS” tree. Finally he settled on one magnificent specimen, the Christmas Tree of all Christmas Trees, tall, straight, perfectly formed, and far too large for our duplex apartment. However, he would not change his mind, this was Bear’s choice, his tree, so off we went, with Bear, and tied the tree to the roof of our V-W. He could hardly wait until we got it into the living room (which took some doing). He danced around it, burying his little face in the branches and proceeded to “help” us decorate. When we finished, Bear couldn’t believe his eyes, HIS tree was gorgeous.

Each and every year following, Bear made the annual trip to the tree lot with us. However, this year, 1973, will mark the second Christmas without Bear, and our first without his dam Pitti. Our tree last year was a miserable failure, the worst Christmas Tree we ever had. Without Bear to pick one for us, we were lost in the local Christmas Tree lots. I could hardly look at the darn thing, its twinkling lights only made me all the sadder as they reminded me of the twinkle in Bear’s eyes. We had lost him in September at age 12½. In late November of this year, his dam, our sturdy old gal, Pitti-Sing, left us at age 16.

How can we possibly even think of a Christmas Tree this year. Somehow it will be much easier than last. This year the tree will be magnificent again, for we have not one, but two great-grandsons of Bear’s to choose our tree. What a time we’ll have with Nikki and Suli ready and eager for their first Christmas Tree. I know they will race up and down the rows of trees with the same enthusiasm, and I know they’ll pick us out a beauty, one that will bring us and them enjoyment throughout the Christmas season. However, regardless of the expertise exhibited by Nikki and Suli in tree choosing, we know our glorious Christmas Tree will always be known as “The Panda Bear Tree,” in honor of that fat, furry puppy who we loved and who loved us for twelve and a half happy years.

DID YOU KNOW ---

That the Tibetan lady and gentleman pictured with Mr. Cutting in the December 1972 "Lhasa Bulletin" was the Tibetan Commander-Chief, Tsarong Shape and his wife? Tsarong Shape's wife, now Mrs. Mary Taring is the author of "Daughter of Tibet" published by Murray's. (Compliments of Mrs. Eric Bailey of England)

That America's Sandur is believed to be the first Lhasa Apso to complete all three Obedience Titles — CD, CDX and UD? Sandur was 16 years old in 1969 and was owned by Mrs. Dorothy Wood of Venice, California.

That nothing is quite so annoying as to have someone go right on talking when you're interrupting?

That the Lhasa Apso Club of Greater Houston has 1974 appointment calendars for sale for $1.50? These calendars have a different Lhasa Apso photograph for each month.

That there are 85 litters nominated at this time for the 1974 Futurities? The deadline for 1974 Futurity Nominations is January 1, 1974. Don't forget the 90 day nomination deadline for 1975 Futurity Nominations. (See page 8 June, 1973 "Lhasa Bulletin")

That the most valuable gift you can give another is a good example?

That the National Capital Area Lhasa Apso Club has 1974 pure linen Lhasa Apso Calendars for sale? These calendars picture some very beautiful Lhasas and cost $2.50.

That the first Lhasa Apso to be recorded in the AKC Stud Book was in the May Issue 1935? This was the bitch Empress of Kokonor owned by Bruce Heathcote of Berkeley, California.

That in order to receive your awards at the Annual Awards Dinner the necessary information must be sent to the Awards Chairman by January 1, 1974? (See page 15 Sept., 1973 "Lhasa Bulletin")

That prior to January 1, 1956, Lhasa Apsos were shown in the Terrier Group?

That you never get a second chance to make a good first impression?

That Volume 42, 1925 AKC Gazette carries an article about Mrs. Cutting and Hamilton Farms? This article is about the Hamilton Farms German Shepherds.

That people are divided into three groups: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those who wonder what happened?

That the new "Lhasa Bulletin" is now 1 1/2 years or 7 issues old?

That the largest Lhasa Apso entry at an all-breed dog show was at the Trenton Kennel Club in 1972? The entry was 172.

That a man rarely succeeds at anything unless he has fun doing it?

That the American Lhasa Apso Club will celebrate her 15th Birthday in February, 1974?

That Tenzing Norgay of Mt. Everest fame is 60 years old, but still climbs? He is now director of field training at the Himalayan Mountaineering Institute in Darjeeling, India, where he lives. Every year, Tenzing makes a pilgrimage to the base of Everest. There, with his family, he pays his respect to the great mountain he conquered 20 years ago.
This charming Lhasa Apso Champion is offered for sale to a show home only.

He is ready to be shown as a special by some eager exhibitor.

"Simba" finished with Four Majors.

1974 EASTERN ALAC SPECIALTY & FUTURITY

The next specialty to be held in conjunction with the Trenton Kennel Club Show at Washington Crossing State Park on May 5, 1974 will feature the honorable Messrs. Alfred Likewise (dogs and intersex); Joseph Faigel (bitches); and the distinguished breeder, Mrs. Ellen Lonigro (futurity) as one judging panel.

The annual dinner meeting the evening prior to the show will be held at the famous Cock and Bull Restaurant, Peddler's Village, New Hope, Pennsylvania, just minutes from the show. Details as to the directions, time, reservations, and price will be forwarded to you as soon as they become available.

Advertising for the Trenton Kennel Club catalogue will again be offered at a 20% discount to club members ($20. per page).

We also hope everyone will support our breed by sending $2.00 for each line on the booster page.

Kindly send advertising and/or booster page requests (checks payable to the American Lhasa Apso Club) to:
