The officers and board of directors handle much of the policy making business for ALAC and the committees do a lot of the real work.

In the past we have had delays in passing on duties and files to a person undertaking a new position.

At the board meeting in Kansas City in 1983 I suggested that we produce Officer Guidebooks containing all the necessary information for a person to be able to understand and continue with productive service in a new position. The board authorized me to develop this project, however, business of more imperative nature postponed the project until now.

About a year ago during a discussion about the future projects of ALAC, Sondra Rogers suggested that perhaps a beneficial project would be to have instructions and reports that could be passed from the retiring officer on to the new officer. When I told her that I had a half finished project just as she described, she offered to compile, copy, type and update what I had in rough draft. I immediately shipped off what I had and am pleased to announce that the first of these Guidebooks were handed out at the board meeting in February and the balance have been mailed.

Contained in these Guidebooks is a list of the duties and qualifications that should be subscribed to by anyone seeking to serve in the position of officer, director or committee head. Also included is an annual calendar that contains all the important dates and deadlines; a note and activity log; an annual report form (to be submitted to the president prior to the annual meeting each year); a list of officers (past and present), board members and committees and a copy of the constitution and by-laws. The officers and board members' Guidebooks contain committee duties and forms for each committee. The committees receive a Guidebook that contains the objectives, forms, duties, reports and general guidelines for their specific committee.

It is the duty of each possessor of a Guidebook to perform the duties of their position according to the outline contained in their Guidebook and to keep it up to date and to pass it on to their successor in order that they can continue the progress and duties of the position.

I believe that these Guidebooks will not only help to define the responsibilities of the presently filled positions but will make the transition of position from one person to another much smoother without the delay and confusion that has been experienced in the past.

I hope you are all planning to attend the Annual ALAC Event in Torrance in July. It sounds like it will be a very fun filled week. While you are there ask an officer, board member or committee head to show you their Guidebook. Thank you Sondra for helping me make one of my planned projects a reality.

Carolyn

Please write your name and your dog’s name on the back of each photo submitted. Do not cut, mark or tape photos. Use a marked paper “overlay” to indicate cropping, if desired. We can work from black and white or color photos, any size, even polaroid. We are eager to help if you need ideas or information to put together your ads.

All photos automatically returned with an advertiser’s copy as proof of advertising. Ads cannot be cancelled after the deadline. Ads received after we have gone to press will automatically appear in the next issue. Please type your pedigrees, on a standard pedigree form, or send in a photocopy of AKC pedigree. What we see is what you get - so proofread carefully!
