Dear Members:

Hope you were one of the lucky ones to make the early deadline for Westminster. If so, see you there; if not, another day, another dog show! I’m really looking forward to the LACGNY Sweepstakes, as it’s always a pleasure seeing the future of the breed in all their splendor.

A note: for those who have wondered whether I have shifted allegiance from Lhasas to Yorkshires, please rest assured my heart will always be first and foremost with my Lhasas - they have been my reason for “keeping on” these many years, when it didn’t always seem worth it. They have given me everything and more than I’ve ever asked of them, and expected so little. Their welfare will always be my first concern, which is why I so strongly support ALAC and will continue to do my best for the Club.

As president, I’d like to point out that I feel members’ contributions are very important to our club - while the Officers and Board get the job done, the job must reflect the desires and opinions of the membership. Your comments on the Breed Standard Interpretation were greatly appreciated, and will be given full consideration.

Please, let me/us hear from you with ideas, suggestions, gripes, and support - the Lhasa Apso needs us working together for their common welfare.

Joan
Rumor is off to a flying start, taking a Group 3rd his first time out as a special!

QUESTION FOR THE FEBRUARY ISSUE:
Our Standard reads: "Eyes - Dark brown, neither very large and full, nor very small and sunk." What is your interpretation of the shape and description of the Lhasa Apso eye?

To correctly interpret our standard's description of the eye one must look at the entire head of the Lhasa Apso.

The request for a dark brown eye leaves little room for deviation as to color, implying at the same time a preference for good overall pigmentation. Very light eyes or blue eyes are clearly undesirable.

The size of the eye should be medium in relationship to the rest of the head. The standard specifically cautions us against an eye that is large and full, an important reference not only to size but to head type; large, full eyes being a typical characteristic of all brachycephalic breeds. Taken into consideration along with the standard's request for a narrow skull (not domed) and a straight face of fair length, with a square muzzle being objectionable, the caution against a large, full eye is a clear indication that the Lhasa Apso is not, and should not be, a brachycephalic breed.

Eyes that are small and sunken are rather uncommon, the trend having gone the other way over the years, and beyond giving us a point of reference to determine "medium" the statement serves no real purpose.

Our standard does not specifically address shape or placement of the eye, therefore we may assume that normal canine shape and placement are applicable. This tells us that the eye should be rather almond-shaped, not round, with no white showing except perhaps a small amount at the outside corners. Excessive white indicates that the eye is too large and/or round. Dark eye rims are consistent with good pigment and will complement the correctly shaped, dark eye.

Placement of the eye brings us back to head type. The standard has established the fact that the Lhasa Apso should have a narrow skull, with a moderate stop (requested by omission) leading into a muzzle of medium length. Accordingly, the eyes should be frontally placed and set fairly close together, there being no request for either widely-spaced eyes or an oblique placement of the eyes. On a 10 to 11 inch dog with a narrow skull there should be no more than 1 to 1 1/2 inches between the eyes, measuring from inside corner to inside corner. Noticeably wide-set eyes on a wedge-shaped head are then incorrect according to the standard, the former being a deviation from the norm that is not requested and the latter requiring a broad skull in direct opposition to the narrow one asked for in our standard.

Nancy J. Plunkett

The standard's description of the eyes, "dark brown, neither very large and full, nor very small and sunk", leaves a range of eye shapes available to breeders. Nothing is said about expression and that aspect is of utmost importance when discussing eyes. A photograph of a Lhasa litter born not long after the breed was introduced into the United States is most interesting. Littermates exhibited two distinct head styles and expressions. Both head styles, one longer and leaner than the other, appear to be within the standard. The expression on the shorter broader head was soft and sweet, while the expression on the longer leaner head was terrier-like. I prefer the latter expression: haughty, alert, arrogant and, at times, defiant. A dark almond shaped eye accompanies this expression. Although the haughty eye expression is my preference, I'm glad the standard allows freedom in this area.

Debby Rothman FLEETFIRE

First of all regarding the eyes of the Lhasa, I feel the most important part of adhering to the standard is that the eyes should definitely be dark - the light, or blue eye that we sometimes see should definitely be unacceptable in showing, or even breeding. While it is desirable to see an almond shaped eye, I have not found the rounder eye to be as objectionable as other points of confirmation that I would put more importance on.

AWARDS REPORT . . .

In order to avoid the crunch at deadline, I would like to encourage everyone to get their awards forms in as early as possible. If anyone would like to submit Championship awards now for dogs finished in the months of November or December please feel free to do so. All awards have to be verified and checked in accordance with the AKC Gazette and I can easily do this on the ones finished in these months.

AGAIN, PLEASE SUBMIT YOUR AWARDS FORMS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE and give us a chance to get started.

Khampa had a lot to be proud of in 1990:
- Group II under all-breed judge Melbourne T Downing at Carroll County Kennel Club in tough competition
- A father and son win under judge Frank Wolaniuk at Valley Forge Kennel Club (BOB and BOW from the puppy class)
- A litter of gorgeous puppies, 2 of whom have distinguished themselves in the show ring (see their ads)
- The support and admiration of other breed enthusiasts

Goldilocks has her father's flashy movement and has earned many compliments in her few outings. She had a super weekend at the TOBI matches in October (The Oriental Breeds International) at 7 1/2 months of age. Saturday, she earned Puppy Group III. Sunday morning, she was Best Puppy in Match at the National Capital Area Lhasa Apso Club Specialty Match. Sunday afternoon, Lhasa breeder-judge Barbara Wood awarded her Puppy Group II. We are delighted to see so many excellent traits being passed on!

THOMAS is shown going Best of Winners for 2 points under judge Frank Wolaniuk at Valley Forge Kennel Club show - - his first point show! THOMAS had celebrated his 6 month birthday shortly before this show! THOMAS sends congratulations to his dad, KHAMPA, who went Best of Breed the same day and to his sister, BODNATH DRAKCHA GOLDILOCKS, on her impressive specialty match wins, owner/handled by Echo Rummell. Thanks also to Dr Houpt, who awarded THOMAS reserve winners dog from the puppy class at Philadelphia! 1990 was a great year for BODNATH puppies - - three of them pointed from puppy classes! Thanks to all the judges who made it possible!

ANNOUNCES

1990 EDITION of THE JUDGING FORM™

The Fourth edition of the Judging Form will be published about March 1st. Our service provides the information you need to make the right decision under what judge and at what shows you should enter your dogs. The 1990 JUDGING FORM provides in one easy to read and study judging results that can save you time and money in showing your LHASA’s.

1. Over 180 pages of show results from 1100 dog shows.
2. 340 Lhasa Judges and how they placed dogs at every show.
3. Group placement and Judge for the Non-Sporting group for every show.
4. Points awarded for every winners dog or bitch. Total show entry.
5. Lhasa group placements and every Non-sporting group judge.
6. Your choice of The Judging Form results listed by JUDGE or REGION.

Armed with this vital information you can make intelligent decisions as to what judges your dogs could do well under. Many of the dogs in the 1990 Judging Form will be in competition in 1991. Know who your potential competitors are for the coming year.

Showing dogs is an expensive hobby. Our service will save you money by reducing the number of shows you should be attending. Previous year owner’s of The Judging Form have told us that their winning percentage increased as they became more selective in the judges they showed under.

When you purchase the 1990 Judging Form we include, free a printout of all placements for your dogs (if they appear in any 1990 show) either by your name or your kennel name.

The cost of this annual service is still only $25 for either the JUDGE or REGIONAL book.

We are also offering a Computer version of the 1990 results database plus operating manual, cost $75.

* SPECIAL OFFER: If you order both the Regional and Judge publications you get both for $40.
We also still have The Judging Form results for 1987, 1988 and 1989.
Order any book with the 1990 results and you get each for only $20 per book.
To order your copy of 1990 The Judging Form or a past edition fill in coupon below and send together with your check.

(CAN CH GLENMIST SHANKARA SAMSSON X CAN CH MI SHANKARA LA OF ABBOTSFORD)

"Midge" an "Abbotsford" girl, sailed through her American Championship very quickly handled by her co-owner, Nancy Damberg of Pawprints fame. Thank you to all the judges who awarded her quality!

Then it was off for a romantic interlude with Am/Can Ch Pawprints Red Hot for Blue. Three golden girls and two golden boys were born January 8, 1991. They are beautiful! Look at the pedigree!

The first time we showed Glitz, she went BIM at three months old. During her match career she took five BIM’s plus a Best in Sweeps at DVLAC under breeder Dodie Sweeney. Then we figured it’s time to graduate to the “Point Shows”. In just six straight shows she finished her championship undefeated.

CH MOJA DROJA OF TIBET
NOV 10, 1974 - NOV 14, 1990

Pictured at 11 years old, winning the Veterans Class. She was our “Shinning Star”. "Moja" introduced us into the show world. Our first Champion. She was more to us than a show dog; she was our loving companion, our buddy, our foundation bitch, our everything! We see a little of her in our puppies, never repeated. One special girl to us. There is a void in our lives now, never to be forgotten, but her name will live on in our line, looking for our "SPECIAL GAL".

AKC NEWS RELEASE

AKC JUDGES TRAINING INSTITUTE: SCHEDULE AND HIGHLIGHTS

The AKC Judges Training Institute will take place in the summer of 1991 at two locations: California Polytechnic University at Pomona from June 30 to July 6; and at Indiana University of Pennsylvania from August 4 to 10. As previously announced, the Judges Training Institute will provide participants with an extensive week-long exposure to everything related to the judging process. Topics covered will include:

- Attributes of the Outstanding Judge
- Standards and the Judging Process
- Evaluation of Structure & Movement in the Ring
- Management Guidelines for Judges
- Ring Procedure
- Junior Showmanship
- The Role of the AKC Field Representative
- How to Study and Learn a New Breed
- The Application Process
- Ethics of Judging
- The Performance Evaluation Test

Each day will include a Practical Experience Session where participants will be exposed to actual judging situations with show dogs in the ring. Evenings will be set aside for informal sessions and discussions to further the learning experience. A video room will be available for viewing AKC videos or tapes made of participants during afternoon practice sessions. Intended to be of particular value to new judges, the Institute program will also provide an opportunity for experienced judges to review the tasks and responsibilities of judging and to discuss specific areas of concern with other participants.

Experienced judge and Institute Director, Dr. Gerard C. Penta, will be assisted with instruction by numerous distinguished colleagues: Anne Rogers Clark; Bob and Jane Forsyth; William Bergum; Ray McNamara; Glenn Fancy; J. Donald Jones; Melbourne T. L. Downing; Marshia Hall Brown; Pat Laurans; Jean Fancy; Ed Gilbert; Thomas C. Conway; Dr. Alan Riga; Dick and Margaret Renihan; and Frank Oberstar.

American Kennel Club Directors Chester Collier and Dr Jacklyn E Hungerland will offer keynote presentations, and Louis Auslander and Mr. Collier will be present at the closing receptions and dinners. AKC Vice President of Dog Events, W. Terry Stacy, will attend and lead sessions at both locations, and AKC Directors, Staff and Field Representatives, including John Mandeville, James Crowley, Dr. James W. Edward, Robert Slay and Mari Beth O'Neill are also scheduled to lead or assist with courses of instruction.

Because enrollment will be limited to sixty at each site, potential participants are encouraged to contact the Judges' Education Department for further information and applications as soon as possible. Reservations will be on a first come basis for approved judges and those fulfilling the 10-4-2 requirements, (10 years involvement in the sport, a minimum of 4 litters bred from which at least 2 champions have come).

The fee for the Institute is $375 per person and includes room for six nights, dinner Sunday evening, three meals per day Monday-through Friday, breakfast Saturday, and all instruction, practical experience, special receptions and functions.

The culmination of three long years of hard work, determination and commitment was reached on January 4, 1991 when Mayor David Dinkins signed New York City’s Dangerous Dog Act, Int. 250-A. New York City will now be protected by reasonable, enforceable, non-discriminatory animal control legislation which defines dangerous dogs by deed, not breed, which entitles the owner of a dog declared to be dangerous to a public hearing, and which holds such dog’s owner responsible for the dog’s actions.

Int. 250-A was introduced (at Int. 943) in late 1987 by New York City Councilwoman Carolyn Maloney. It was immediately supported by the American Kennel Club, American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Responsible Dog Owners Association, and the American Veterinary Medical Association. It was signed by Mayor Dinkins in May 1990.
