They say Lhasas just get better the older they get. "Puppins" certainly exemplifies that statement. At age eleven years, she attained her breed's highest honor - Best of Breed from the Veterans' Class at the National Specialty, under judge Michelle Billings.

Thank you Mrs. Billings for recognizing Puppins’ quality and for making a dream a reality. And, thank you to all the friends Puppins has made through the years, who supported and encouraged us to this glorious victory. You touched our hearts and we will never forget. Her breeders thank you, her owners thank you, her handler thanks you, and Ms Puppins very sincerely thanks you!

Dear ALAC Member:

I would like to thank the members who supported my candidacy for the position of ALAC President. I promise you that I will do my best to make our club unified, well organized and worthy of our beloved breed.

In the past I've heard criticism of selective officers, board members or committee chairs, regarding one thing or another. We must all realize that our officers, board members and chairs have volunteered their time and effort to serve ALAC in a positive manner. They are not compensated for the flights to distant cities to attend board meetings, or the hours spent writing a proposal, computing a financial statement, taking minutes at meetings, working on making the national a success, or printing our bulletin. It's all done for the love of our breed and club. We should thank these people.

This does not mean that we don't make mistakes or shouldn't listen to constructive criticism. What I am asking of each and every member is that, before you criticize or accuse, please contact the person and ascertain the facts. Let's work towards communicating, before taking the attitude that the board does not care or only acts in its own personal interest. It's simply not true.

During the election campaign, there were many letters going to member's homes. The majority of the letters were positive and were to introduce candidates to the membership for the purpose of being elected. Yet, there were other letters that were sent selectively to certain members. Some of these letters were not written in the best interest of ALAC. I certainly hope this practice will not continue and that open communications will resolve much of the confusion, eliminate unnecessary involvement by AKC and expel false accusations.

There are a couple of items that I would like to briefly address.

As far as I'm concerned, the breed standard guide is completed. It was approved by the committee, the board and the membership. I believe the committee is in the process of printing it in booklet form. They should be commended for their work in putting this guide together. It took patience, determination and compromise.

The National Specialty and Futurity changes have generated lots of controversy. There seems to be confusion as to what these changes involve, as well as to how they are structured. I believe they are detailed in this Bulletin and I urge all members to look for the information.

I personally have several goals that I would like to accomplish during my term as president. They include:

1. Addressing the standard. We need to seriously look at our standard, be objective and determine whether it should be revised and clarified. I personally believe it needs to be expanded, if we expect judges to competently evaluate our Lhasas.

2. Review and revision of our Constitution and By-laws. We have a committee that has been working in this area for a couple of years. I believe they have done a great deal of research and it is now up to the board to review their recommendations.

3. The National Specialties and Futurities. As noted above, we do have a new format of six regions, with a roving national by region each year and a futurity in each region each year (six futurities a year). As mentioned by a board member at the last meeting, "nothing is cast in stone". If the membership is not happy with this new format, let us know. Address your doubts and questions. Nothing can be changed or corrected unless the board is informed of your concerns. I do think we should at least give this new format a chance to succeed before altering it. Again, there was much time, energy and effort put into this proposal. The entire membership was polled and the committee made their recommendations based on the majority results from that polling.

In closing, nothing would give me greater ALAC pleasure than to see our club totally unified, with all members working for the same basic goal - the advancement and growth of the Lhasa Apso. I may be an idealist, but I think we can do it. I urge any member to call or write at any time, expressing their opinions and ideas. I'll do my best to respond.

Steve Campbell

Results of the National Specialty/ Futurity Task Force

There have been many questions and rumors about what has or has not been done by this task force. With consideration to the polling of the membership on this subject the following is a recap of the task force suggestions that were adopted by the Board.

1. National Specialty
   - a. The 48 contiguous states will be divided into 6 regions. Northeast, Southeast (divided by the Mason Dixon Line), Mid-North, Mid-South (divided by the same lines that exist presently) Northwest, and Southwest.
   - b. The National will rotate between the 6 regions on a yearly basis.
   - c. Specialties will be held the 3rd full week (Monday - Sunday) in June every year. (This was actually passed in 1989)

2. ALAC will also take on some additional responsibilities.
   - a. There will be the development of the ALAC Show Committee.
     1. Show chairperson/Judges Contact/ Regional Host Coordinator - This exist under the exiting "National Specialty Coordinator" - Chair - Jeannie Hope
     2. Committee Coordinator/Contract Negotiator - new committee - Chair - Victor Cohen (The plan includes negotiating contracts as much as 3 years in advance. These locations would be published well in advance also).
     3. Trophy Committee - existing committee - Chair - Naomi Hanson
     4. Advertising - existing committee - Chair - Jenny Drastura
     5. Finance - existing committee - Chair - Carolyn Herbel
     6. Raffle - existing committee - Chair - Carolyn Herbel
     7. Obedience - existing committee - Chair - Brenda Schmeiler
     8. Futurity - existing 3 committee - Chairs - Ann Lanterman, Debbie Burke, & Becki Kraus
     9. Publicity/Premium List - new committee - pre-mailing and premium list - Chair - Susan Giles
     10. Guidelines Coordinator - new committee - prepare a booklet of specialty guidelines and datas - Don Hanson
     b. Co-hosted by Clubs/Membership Clusters within a Region

3. Futurities
   - a. Each of the 6 regions will hold their own Futurity. The intent is to have more futurities closer to more people and to use more regional people to judge. These judges could also include retiring judges and judges wishing to be licensed for Lhasas as an additional breed.
   - b. There will be a Best Adult and a Best Puppy awarded in each region.
   - c. The Best Adult and Best Puppy from each region will compete at the National Specialty for Grand Futurity Winner.
   - d. All Futurities will be held in April and May. (This will give all winners the chance to make plans to attend the National).

   a special note - The holding of Futurities may be done independently, in conjunction with a specialty, or in conjunction with an all-breed show and may be hosted by a local specialty club, or a group of Lhasa fanciers.
FIRST OF ALL, I WANT TO THANK ALL YOU WHO SIGNED THE WONDERFUL GIANT CARD AT THE NATIONAL COMMEMORATING THE BIRTH OF OUR DAUGHTER, CAITLIN JILL. You brought tears to our eyes and I could picture each of you signing it at a show I longed to attend. Thank you for making me feel as if I were there with you. Besides, I always wondered how posters came through the mail—this one arrived intact!

The Board has tentatively decided to meet the end of September and though the traveling plans are still in the making, I would encourage any member and club to submit any business/correspondence to me as soon as possible in order that it be placed on the agenda. I CAN ASSURE YOU, YOU WILL BE HEARD! If there is any question about the presence of a topic or issue on the agenda, please feel free to call me (313) 644-9194—I'm almost ALWAYS home!

It has become evident to me that OCCASIONAL parent club approval requests, required by AKC from regional clubs prior to holding specialty shows, ARE NOT getting through to this office or AKC. Some of it is due to the use of my OLD zip code. As of July 1st, as per Board directive, I will be sending your Club immediate acknowledgment of receipt of your request, whether it comes from AKC or the Show Chairman. If you have any questions whether or not AKC received this authorization, contact AKC's Event Operations FIRST. If the department has no record of it, contact me immediately so I can FAX one in to them. I would advise Show Chairs to not automatically assume AKC has it. Also, be sure to note that parent club authorization requires a fee of $10.00, payable to ALAC.

The Annual Meeting and Board Meeting Minutes will be published in the NEXT issue of the Bulletin, along with the status of any motions conducted by the current Board through the mail. If you have any comments about them, please submit written correspondence to this office. The address is:

LOCAL CLUB LIAISON REPORT

On July 2, 1992 I met in Houston at the LACGH/ALAC Specialties with eight local club designees. This was a better showing than I had expected and I was happy to see Shirley Benedict from San Diego LAC, Debbie Burke from DVLAC, Ann Burton from CMLAF, Ron Crowder from Heart of America LAC, Nancy Damberg from Willamette Valley LC, Don Evans from LACGH, Pam Gamble from LAC of Southern CA, and Midge Hylton from LAC of Northern CA.

Our discussion covered the dates of futurities, the dates of the National, the content of the Bulletin, mailing of the Bulletin to judges and a letter from the Greater South Lhasa Apso Club.

The hour allotted for the meeting was not sufficient since we were still in deep discussion when the time for the ALAC board meeting rolled around an hour later.

At the Board meeting, these issues were discussed at great length and the board meeting adjourned to be continued the next day.

Still more discussion was continued at the Annual meeting and because of the lack of a quorum, there could be no voting on the matter of the futurities and the meeting was adjourned without any resolution of these matters.

I assume these matters will be again brought up for resolution at the first meeting of the new officers and Board of ALAC.

In the meantime, please keep me informed with your local newsletters about local club matters and I will try to have them published here in the Bulletin in this column.

It was a pleasure meeting so many of you in Houston and I hope we see each other again soon.

Surviving An AKC INSPECTION!
by Donna Bedrick

Rumors abound and even the most stout of heart tremble at the thought of the AKC inspector’s knock. In every issue, The Gazette lists column after column of fines with suspensions for failure to comply with identification and record-keeping in accordance with AKC rules, generating still more fear and rumors, and the great ringside debates. Does the AKC have the right to get tough, in a move to protect the integrity of registration for the purebred dog? Is AKC visiting only those individuals suspected of being a puppy mill? Can you ever really satisfy the AKC inspector?

Since I am not an attorney, I will not comment or debate any legal points on the inspections process. But as an exhibitor/breeder which is my area of expertise, I will share with you what I have learned directly, having been inspected myself . . .

We were aware, as most exhibitors are, that the AKC were conducting inspections. Every now and then some horror story would be related ringside, sparking yet another debate on the issue. Most were positive that an individual must have been suspected of some great wrongdoing, poor conditions, or potential “puppy-milling” in order for the AKC inspector to come calling. Surely ten or more litters a year were far beyond what the “debaters” bred, so most felt the issue would never touch them personally. Admission of having been inspected was politically incorrect and unsafe, so most who had been stood quietly by, as the “debaters” raged on. Sound familiar?

Fate had it that I attended the annual banquet of the Pennsylvania Federation of Dog Clubs as a delegate from my all-breed kennel club. The guest speaker was from AKC and covered updates on inspections. What a revelation!

As is common practice with many show breeders, most top quality show bitches left my home with a co-ownership, some with an agreement for a “puppy back.” In part, it ensured that the bitch would not be overbred or resold into an unacceptable situation. Pets sold could more easily be controlled through neuter/spay agreements or limited registration, usually both. But to my surprise, every co-breeding counted as if the litter had been whelped in my home, by AKC’s statistics. Having bred six litters for myself for the year, the addition of co-bred litters immediately placed me in the “high-risk” category. I called the AKC inspections department to confirm the information and requested the FREE booklet on what was expected from me in order to comply.

First, I learned that the ten litter figure does not exist - anyone who has registered two or more litters may be inspected. The staff of the AKC’s inspection department was very friendly and patiently answered my questions, even offering moral support. I ordered additional books for my kennel club - to schedule this topic as a meeting program - timely for sure. I was surprised to hear comments from my peers: “You mean you actually gave them your name and address??” As if AKC didn’t already know.

I read the booklet, then carefully read each page of my records making sure they were completely filled out to the AKC’s specifications. I wrote co-breeders or co-lessees to request any missing information. I needed regarding the disposition of their puppies. My books were complete, I was ready except for one more hurdle to overcome.

The subject of identification had not been a problem until now. My family and I always knew who each dog was and had photographed them individually for inclusion with my will. I found my wonderful method of putting the color photo and pedigree across from the AKC registration certificate was NOT acceptable. Since Italian Greyhounds are marked so individually and come on a wide variety of colors, this system worked for me. But what if I breed Manchester or Min Pins? AKC really does have a valid point. So, I was faced with three options for identification:

The Collars with I.D. Tag left me uneasy. IG’s jump up and down like they have springs on their feet and we’ve all heard the “hung dog” stories. This option was not for me.

The Identa implant chips require a scanner to read the chip and the inspectors don’t carry one. That left the third and last option . . .

Tattooing was my only personally acceptable choice. I knew nothing about tattooing, or where to start looking.

There were no tattoo clinics scheduled for my area; local tattooists would not work on animals, citing health laws. The veterinarian who did perform this service insisted on complete anesthesia which placed the dogs at unnecessary risk, not to mention great expense. My friend and frequent co-breader, Bonny McKissock had run the tattoo clinic for her local breed club, and immediately became my long-distance consultant. As luck would further have it, another friend Nancy Maio, dog groomer by trade, expressed interest in adding this service to her business. We searched and researched tattoo guns, returning the first gun for lack of quality and rejecting the option of ordering a human tattoo gun, due to excessive long needle length - too deep for our little dogs. Nancy finally obtained a wonderful gun in a kit offered by the National Dog Registry. She chose to add the foot pedal for greater control. The gun proved to be well worth the search. She tattooed her own two IG's and satisfied with it all, she scheduled my dogs for the weekend following our National Specialty, about ten days ago. The day before I was to fly out, my worst fear came true.

About four in the afternoon, my husband called, nervous as the day our twin sons were born. "They're here - they're here!" he kept repeating. He might have had the same reaction if aliens had landed on our lawn. "Who's there?" I queried. My stomach dropped as he replied. "There is an AKC inspector waiting for you." That’s about all I recall of our conversation. A quick call to AKC revealed the names of the two possible inspectors working in my area. Visions of my name appearing in the Gazette flashed before my eyes, followed by a brief scenario of the ringside gossip...it wasn’t pretty. The trip home from work was a blur, and there, in her car, I found the ‘AKC inspector’ waiting.

I introduced myself, checked her I.D. and invited her inside. "Would you like to see my books?" I asked, feeling very safe ground there. My books were a thing of beauty, dubbed "War and Peace." The inspector replied in her most professional tone: "Show me your dogs - then the books." I led her to the dog room; the IG’s barked and leapt with happiness to see me home, almost ignoring the stranger among them. "Show me their identification" - the moment had arrived too soon - the woman from AKC had told me just to explain that I had an appointment to have them tattooed - and did I ever explain. I was terrified. The inspector nodded and had me indicate who each dog was. As I called their name, their dance became a little more excited. ‘Other than the tattooing, do you see anything you would like improved?’ I asked; she replied “No.” We moved back into the living room and opened the books containing color photos, pedigrees, breeding records, birth weights and shot records, correspondence, show records of all the pups...all trimly organized. The inspector carefully reviewed each page dwelling on those of interest to AKC.

To my surprise, one item in the books needed to be corrected. I had omitted the AKC numbers of the sires and dams of the individual dogs. This had to be remedied - no problem. She further suggested including the official AKC record for each dog just to be safe. My "homemade" record sheets seemed to make her a little uneasy, so I promised I would add that paperwork. As she "wrote up" the infractions, she assured me that AKC valued their show breeders and that I would be given a reasonable time to make the few corrections needed. I agreed to do so.

She sat and patiently answered my questions. Just how did my name come up? She said that computer lists are provided to her of those people using the registration services of AKC for multiple litters. It would be unfair of AKC to single out only one segment of the users for inspection so AKC judges, living legends, small hobby breeders, puppy millers, top show breeders are jumbled together on her readout sheet.

It isn’t an enviable job. Some inspectors have been shot at, many verbally abused by hostile breeders. But saddest of all for the inspector is discovering horribly abused animals, suffering. Still, this is not the province of the inspector; AKC strictly dictates that cruelty charges are to be brought only by the appropriate local agency. Cruelty may be reported to the agencies by an inspector only through formal written complaint. Individual dog and kennel licenses are also of no concern to the AKC or the inspector. Their job is strictly reviewing identification and record-keeping practices. My inspector offered to be of assistance whenever needed, and gave me her number to call. We chatted about upcoming shows, how my dogs were doing in the ring, kids and family stuff...then she left.

I was past the ordeal; I had survived and it was not half as bad as I anticipated. I decided then and there that I would not hide my inspection and discussed it freely at the National Specialty. So many people had questions and needless fear. Of course the gossip still flowed freely, but this time one, and another breeder started to talk about their experience of being inspected - not one major problem between us - all of us needed to correct something - all the inspectors were very helpful and pleasant.

Time has passed...the tattooing of my IG’s went smoothly, thanks to Nancy, who did a great job. It was a lot of work. All sires and dams of individuals proudly display their AKC numbers and official record sheets are added for good measure. The official AKC warning letter went into the book along with a copy of my compliance and the registered receipt of the letter in which it was sent.

I plan to keep in touch with my inspector, as a resource person. We are - after all - all on the same side, out for the same goal: The welfare of the dogs we both love and perpetuation of the exciting sport of purebred dogs.

Mary Puppins remembers her National Specialties . . .

1982 – Seattle, WA
My first Specialty where I won my Futurity class under Judge Carolyn Herbel.

1983 – Kansas City, MO
Dad judged – I relaxed!

1984 – Houston, TX
My first year as a Specials. Mom was proud that we made the cut under Edd Birin.
I watched my brothers Rocky and Tippy go WD and RWD.

Science Diet helped me grow up full of spunk!
1985 - Lockport, NY
Dorothy Nickles awards me
Best Opposite Sex - what fun!

1986 - Torrance, CA
We made "the cut" again under
Tom Stevenson from the Specials' Class

1987 - Minneapolis, MN
In the Specials' Class again! ALAC offers a "Select Award" for the first time and Judge Norman Herbel chose me to receive one!

1988 - Thornton, CO
Mom judged - I dreamed of next year!

I took Science Diet to all the National Specialties!
1989 - Lanham, MD
Keke Khan awarded me the Veterans' Class and another Select Award!

1990 - Millbrae, CA
and another Select Award from the Veterans' Class under Joseph Gregory!

1991 - Troy, MI
Another Select Award from the Veterans' Class under Carolyn Herbel!

Science Diet is keeping me in top form!
Best In Show - Best In Specialty
Ch. Anbara-Rimar Mary Puppins

(BIS/BISS Ch. S.J.W. Waffle Stomper, ROM x Ch. Anbara-Rimar Footloose Fox, ROM)

Here I am at age eleven, in Houston, where everything was magic. The air was alive with applause and Mrs. Billings chose me Best of Breed. We thank her for this supreme honor and thank all our friends for that "sound" which will ring in our hearts forever!

"Kyi"Congratulates his son Ch. Shanara's Shade of Allanon ("Allie") on winning his championship in style. He finished with a five point major and a Best of Breed over 4 Specials, breeder, owner, handled all the way. "Kyi's" grandson ("Allie's" son), Shanara Slaner Ravenshorn won his class at the Nationals in July. Congratulations to their breeder/owners Karen & Steve Nichols.

"Kyi" has sired a beautiful black litter out of Champion Art-Est Keeping The Faith. We have 2 black females and a gorgeous black male available. The litter was whelped on June 24, 1991. We could have another "Allie" in this litter!!!

Watch for Art-Est Major League with handler, Jean Lade. We finally got another "Red One"!

"Kyi" craves Science Diet
1. Never agree to run for the office of president, secretary or treasurer. Assertive presidents are criticized for being dictators; low-key presidents are called spineless. Treasurers are either tight-fisted or lousy bookkeepers, and secretaries never do anything right, no matter what they do or don't do.

2. You may notice that I left out vice-president. This appears to be a reasonably innocuous office, based as it is on the understudy concept. One seldom has to do anything. The only danger I can think of comes when the job carries with it some additional responsibility, such as being specialty chairman (that happened to me once), or when the president dies or can't travel to the annual meeting, in the case of national clubs. If any of these happens, you're in a lot of trouble. Better not to run for anything at all.

3. Never serve on any important committee that will be setting breed or club policy. If the position is appointive, refuse the appointment. If the appointment is elective, take a page from the person (was it Sherman?) who said, "If nominated I will not run; if elected I will not serve." No good can come of serving on these committees. If you vote for a policy, you're in collusion with those voting with you. Vote against it, and you're a reactionary who's going to set the club back 100 years.

4. Never serve as an editor of anything, period. You will be hated for what you put in, for what you leave out, for the size of the magazine, for the size of the print, for the quality of the photographs, and for the whimsies of the United States mail. You will doubtless be blamed for the next postal increase. As a matter of fact, I can think of nothing that will render you offensive more quickly than being an editor.

5. Never agree to keep club records of any kind. This is especially true of those leading to awards. You can't possibly collect all the data, and much of what you do collect will be wrong somehow. Come the award ceremony, and those left out are going to be howling mad. Those who do receive their awards will be likewise made because the certificate is the wrong name, is minus the co-owner's name, or because the dog's name is misspelled, and never mind the fact that the dog's name is Serbo-Croatian in origin and printed in Cyrillic.

6. Never, never, never have anything to do with a nation specialty show. That means never even offer to help the food concession for an hour—something will go wrong.

7. It goes without saying that you would never be national show chairman. That way lies madness. For sheer number of reasons to be hated, blamed, and generally maligned, the chairman's plight rivals that of the editor—the essential difference if that of time. The chairman's job is shorter in duration than the editor's. Editors are therefore chronically offensive—and chairmen are acute conditions. One should remember, however, that acute conditions are often fatal. One should avoid being chairman.

8. A few more items in summation: never breed a litter. Your bad taste and obvious ignorance of genetics will surely offend someone. Never give your opinion of a dog, no matter how much the opinion is solicited. Your words will come back to haunt you. Never win. You will be endlessly offensive to those who know your dog didn't deserve the win and who take umbrage at your joy.

In fact, if you wilt at the thought of not being loved, you should do nothing, say nothing, and be nothing. For whatever you do, should you be so brash as to show some initiative and get involved in your breed, you will somehow offend someone. Of course, you will miss a lot by being uninvolved and you certainly won't be able to say you did much to advance the sport. Nor will you enjoy the pats and praise for a job well done. You will, however, be terribly, miserably, anonymously safe!

Dear Novice Breeder,

"I was somewhat dismayed to hear the panic in your voice when you called to tell me your bitch had her first litter of puppies, that they were just six weeks old, and that you had not succeeded in placing any of them yet. Then you asked if I could please help you find homes for them.

"Well, I was happy to sell you a show-quality bitch puppy three years ago, pleased when she got her first points and her C.D., and glad that her OFA radiograph turned out okay. I also didn't mind referring you to another breeder last year for a male puppy whose lines would complement hers. Do you remember, however, that I also suggested that you consider getting a bitch puppy instead? At least then, I explained, you would have points in the shows. I mentioned the problems of dealing with a male around a female in season, and you assured me you had adequate facilities.

"But now you tell me that your dog 'helped himself' to your bitch at nine or ten months old! Where were you? Where was your bitch? Why didn't you provide a secure area for her when she was in season, even if it was only a crate in the bedroom and a leash?

"You insisted on getting a male because you didn't want to ship your bitch or take her to a stud for breeding. I can understand that. There is a lot you need to worry about when you send your best friend on the 'unfriendly' skies, or when you have to take time off from home and work at short notice to drive cross country. But you also assured me you would be able to place the puppies when the time came to breed your dogs.

"Selling puppies is more than just putting an ad in the local newspaper and waiting for people to beat a path to your door. Puppies need to be socialized, leash trained and housebroken. This is the breeder's responsibility—your responsibility.

"I won't take time my own dogs need from me to socialize and housebreak your puppies as well as find homes for them. If I can't give them the attention they need, my name and reputation are on the line. The dog-buying public remembers the person they get their dog from, not some name on the dog's papers indicating the 'breeder.'

"I have been in your situation. That's why I have two 12-year-old littermates. One was my pick bitch out of my first litter, the other was one I couldn't sell. I didn't even like the second one very much until she was over two years old. But I did obedience train her and show her in conformation, if only to build points for her sister. (The 'reject' finished with four majors six months before her sister, and has several obedience titles.) I also got stuck with a male from that litter—and it was not an accidental breeding. I shipped my well-bred bitch cross country to be bred to a Best-in-Show male—the top dog in the country of our breed at the time. My bitch was pointed, obedience-titled and OFA'd.

"I eventually neutered that male, but had another male from that litter returned. I finished him and used him as a stud for several years before retiring him to a friend's house. After coping with him for many years, I know everything there is to know about keeping a lustful male apart from bitches in season: It required constant vigilance and strong, high fences, locked gates and tightly-closed doors. You cannot relax for one second.

"I am not exactly pleased that you are talking about spaying your bitch. Not only would your not being able to finish her championship reflect badly on both of us in a breed where few 'pet' litters are bred, but it wasn't her fault. You have put up with your seasons for three years now. If you have to keep one (or more) of the female puppies, six months from now your situation will be twice as bad. Chances are your bitches may not be in season simultaneously which will only draw your male dog's (and your) agony out longer. You had better start planning now what you are going to do with him if you have two or three bitches in season—unless you're planning to spay the puppies also.

"I know you love our breed and are sincerely concerned about its future. Don't let one accident discourage you; just be more careful the next time. Good luck, and I wish you all the best in finding homes for your puppies.'

Unfortunately age is not the deciding factor in whether or not anyone should own a dog. Owning a dog is a long-term commitment to an animal’s physical and emotional well-being, as well as a responsibility to neighbors, family and friends.

The first factor to consider before getting a dog is how much time you have to devote to it. Dogs are social animals and need to be with their family, even if that earns just lying at your feet while you’re reading the paper or watching television. A dog that spends all its time in the backyard with only an hour or two with its owner will probably develop behavior problems.

Young puppies, especially, require a tremendous amount of time, just as babies do. A puppy that is not socialized at a young age will never reach its full potential. The result can be a number of behavior problems.

Every dog needs some obedience training, which also requires time. Classes usually take an hour a week, but you will need additional time to practice the lessons outside of class. The dog also needs to learn household rules such as "don’t jump on people," "keep off the furniture" and "not barking."

Every dog, regardless of breed, should be groomed regularly. Naturally, a coated breed such as a Bearded Collie or an Old English Sheepdog will require more time and effort than a German Shorthaired Pointer, but all dogs need the attention grooming provides. You need to examine a dog’s ears weekly for dirt or infection, trim its toenails as needed, and check the dog daily for fleas, ticks, burrs, foxtails, cuts or scratches.

Every dog needs exercise. A casual stroll around the neighborhood is not enough for a young, healthy dog. A 20-minute session of running, catching and returning the ball is much better. Naturally, an 8-month-old Labrador Retriever will need more exercise than a 6-year-old Papillon, but both need regular exercise for good mental and physical health.

Dog ownership also requires money. Unfortunately, many things that dogs require for good health and safety cost money. These include a fenced yard, spaying or neutering, regular veterinary care, licensing fees, food and toys.

Making the right decision, even if it means putting off dog ownership, will save pain and heartache in the long run. No one enjoys unpleasant surprises, especially those requiring time or money. Only when the new dog owner can make the commitment required should he or she take on the responsibility of a dog. If the dog is for a child, the parent should be able to closely supervise its care. The parent must be willing to feed the dog when the child forgets and to pay for vet bills as they arise. Because choosing the right dog has a tremendous bearing on the success of the relationship, you should investigate how to choose and find a dog of the right breed, sex, temperament and age for your needs.

This January, while I was in northern Minnesota for a sled dog race, I was advised to brace myself for assault by PETA. People for Ethical Treatment of Animals.

I have no quarrel with the idea of treating animals ethically, but these people oppose the use of dogs in sports. They oppose the use of animals by humans for any reason. They say it's specie-ism.

Specie-ism is sort of like racism and feminism. PETA says a dog is just as good a creature as, for instance, a cat, a rat or a human. All species are created equal.

They abhor the use of animals in laboratories, likewise the harvesting of fur, feathers, meat and leather. They even oppose the shearing of sheep, saying we have no right to their wool. I surmise they also detest gathering manure for fertilizer.

They oppose the idea of one animal owning another. You can't own a pet; that's slavery.

ALF and ARC (and a bunch of other radical organizations for the release and liberation of animals) claim responsibility for breaking into medical labs and releasing animals, destroying projects and costing researchers thousands of dollars.

They claim to be also raiding dog shows all over the country, opening crates and freeing the prized poodles and champion cockers from bondage.

These groups aim to return all animals to nature. Set them free. ALF and ARC are permitting pets to be equal to wild animals. Free to be eaten. Or maybe flattened by an 18-wheeler, then eaten.

I'm sorry, folks, but I'm a bigot on this one.

Since the dawn of time, the food chain has been a fact or nature. One bunch of animals eats another bunch, only to be eaten by yet another bunch. If humans are the same as other animals, we're part of the chain. It's OK to eat meat. That's nature's way.

Fortunately, humans have learned to overcome our basic animal instincts.

We have learned compassion. We embrace women's equality and racial equality as valid issues. I affirm the equality of all mankind, but when it comes to equality of species, I miss the boat. I even miss the ocean.

Animals have no compassion. If they are hungry, they kill and eat. OK. But cat kill birds and mice even if they aren't hungry. That simply lack of compassion should convince even the most radical animal rightist that cats are not equal to humans. In nature, equality of animals is a fallacy.

Fortunately for me, the planned PETA demonstration never happened.

It seems a carnival came through touting wrestling bears. They put a muzzle on the bear, and that put PETA, ALF and ARC in a rage. It seems a bear ranks higher than a bunch of dogs.

Now doesn't that smack of specie-ism?

LHASA APSO GNAWING PROBLEM
MIGHT HAVE BEEN STRESS

For no apparent reason, Tasha, a purebred Lhasa Apso spent more than a year gnawing and licking at her back legs, keeping the area constantly raw and irritated. It may have been stress.

An otherwise healthy, happy 4-year old Tasha rules the roost in her Harford county home, which she shares with her owners, Cindy and John Smith, and their 1-year-old son, John Joseph Smith IV, who is better known as "L.J." The young family, who reside in Street, live with Mrs. Smith's mother, Betty Brown.

When she was about 2 years old, Tasha began to lick and gnaw at her back legs and "at her backside near her tail," says Mrs Smith. "It wasn't fleas and her food was the best I can buy at the pet store. When she began the licking, I added a small spoon of oil in her food at the suggestion of my then-veterinarian. He may have felt dry skin was causing it and the added oil would help.

"I also began cooking chicken, rice and vegetables for her just in case she had an allergy to commercial dog foods," Mrs. Smith explains. "I used...ointments and creams...and I wiped the area with Avon's Skin-So-Soft and even listerine, but nothing worked. About six months ago, after more than a year of this, she stopped, and now her hair in that area has grown back," said Mrs. Smith.

Asked for advice on this matter, Veterinarian Tom Ryan at the Main Street Veterinary Hospital on Reisterstown Road discussed several reasons for this problem. "A veterinarian should first rule out any pain that may be the cause," he says.

"However it is often a condition called acral lick, also called neurodermatitis, which is a stress-relief mechanism and is a vicious cycle. A dog will gnaw, primarily at a leg or ankle joint, causing callouses and hair loss, then skin erosion and nerve exposure," he says. "It is more prevalent in larger breeds such as the labs, goldens and Dobermans.

"Also," he adds, "it could be caused by pain in the spot, like arthritis. Or, the dog may be (remembering) a pain that may have been there at one time and he continues to keep the area irritated.

Dr. Ryan continued, "Also, there is interdigital licking of all the toes, which is generally caused by an allergy," he says, noting that "treatment varies with the condition.

"If it is arthritis, aspirin can be given. A collar may be used—the large Elizabethan collar to prevent the dog from reaching the irritated spot—or, if possible, the area can be bandaged. Anti-inflammatory injections and antihistamines may help," he says. "Also, tranquilizers can be very effective. Most of the areas involved are not infected, just irritated," he explains, adding that "ointments are useless as they are licked off as fast as they are applied."

Mrs. Smith, who says she's a "master worker in cleaning, sweeping, crafts and cooking," believes Tasha may have suffered from stress.

"After thinking about it a lot," she says, "I believe Tasha was affected by my father's death. Her problem began about the time he died," she says, adding that "Tasha sleeps with us but most of the day she spent with my father and may have felt great stress at losing him."

Betty Brown, Mrs. Smith's mother, is impressed with Tasha's intelligence and her unusual taste. "She loved oranges," Mrs. Brown says. "When she gets a whiff of an orange being peeled, she comes running and will eat all of the peeled section we offer."

Readers may have had similar problems with their dogs and may have some suggestions for correcting this licking and gnawing problem. If so, please write to: Ellen Hawks, Pausing With Paws, The Evening Sun, 501 N. Calvert St., Baltimore 21278. Please, no calls.

Only Science Diet for these gems
I purchased my first Lhasa Apso in June, 1988. I began voraciously reading all the Lhasa Apso books and magazines, studying the history and the standard of the Lhasas, and admiring the Lhasas of the past, present and future.

I began going to all the shows and seeing the local, regional and national Lhasas in action in the show ring. After many months there were shows in Longmont, Colorado. I pulled my chair ringside to watch the Lhasa judging. I'd seen and become acquainted with many of the Lhasas that were being shown but was especially excited this day as one of the top dogs in the country was entered as a special, and looking over the catalog, there were some other Lhasas being shown that I had not seen, both local and out of staters.

I had met your mom, Debby, and she had been not only kind and gracious to a novice seeking to learn about Lhasas, but had been very helpful and instructive with her knowledge as well as with her materials about Lhasas. I had visited her at your house and she spent several hours teaching me, answering questions and showing me various Fleetfire Lhasas.

Suddenly, there she was in the ring with a dog I'd never seen (or didn't remember seeing) - the most beautiful, poised, graceful, elegant Lhasa I'd seen that lit up the ring and made my heart leap. As she stood in the line receiving your BOW, I stepped up and said, "Where'd you get that dog?" With a proud gleam in her eye she said, "I bred him, he's mine!"

Somewhere in my reading, studying, questioning, learning, I read, or someone said, "One day you'll see a Lhasa in motion that will become the picture of 'THE LHASA' for you."

THAT WAS THE DAY! You, STEPHEN, were and are the picture of 'THE LHASA' in conformation, personality, grace and style for me.

You never really had a show 'career' because every time you were brought out to get use to the show ring you won! Oh yes, when you were there the others had to "Step Aside". After that day in Longmont I eagerly looked through the show catalog to see if you'd be there. For me it was all too soon that CHAMPION became you first name as I wouldn't get to see you except at your home.

Soon your kids, bearing the 'Mark of Stephan', began to enter the ring and they will soon make you a ROM. I remember attending my first National Specialty in San Francisco. There were all the brave, bold and beautiful Lhasas and I admired them. But, I never saw a one I wouldn't have "Step Aside" for you. Your baby girl "Fanny" (who I threatened to steal) was there and showed like a dream as a puppy. Soon she grew up and quickly became a champion and finished her brief career with a group 1 -- STEP ASIDE folks, she has the 'Mark of Stephan'!. Several of your "kids" have points and will soon be champions. So it can and must be said,

I see your grace and style and spirit in your kids.
I see you morning and night as I pass Mountain Pet Grooming with your noble body in full show coat proudly displayed on the sign advertising the shop. Of course for me it is the number one tourist attraction in Evergreen and I always give directions from that sign.

I close my eyes and through the tears I see you sitting on my lap, guarding the door, and watching with your air of nobility the antics of the Kids or Koron. That you came to live with me was the greatest joy and now the greatest sorrow. Though you were never really mine you always will be, the Lhasa that stole my heart and gave me the picture of what a Lhasa is to be.

I raise my eyes to the skies and through more tears I see you alive and in full "Stephan", skimming the clouds with elegance and grace as all who have passed beyond life's way "Step Aside", and the heaven's trumpet forth the call:

THIS IS THE NOBLEST LHASA OF THEM ALL:
"STEPHAN"

CHAMPION FLEETFIRE STEP ASIDE O'NYIMA

Dear Debby and Mary:

Thanks for letting me love him.

Love,

Steve & the Kids of Koron

Dear Stephan:

You fought a good fight and more than fulfilled all expectations. I only wish you could have stayed longer and just enjoyed being loved. Thanks for the memories.

Rest in Peace.

Love,

Steve & the Kids of Koron

Will your pet be a good neighbor? It's up to you.

The companionship and love of a dog or cat can be a delightful experience. As you enjoy the pleasure of your pet's company, a little extra effort on your part will teach it to be a good neighbor, as well.

Your pet reflects your own sense of civic responsibility and consideration for others. Ask yourself, "Would I want my pet living next door to me?"

Training your pet to be a good neighbor is not difficult, especially if you begin when it's young. Your efforts will be rewarded with a pet that is a joy to you and a good neighbor in your community.

This article offers suggestions on how you can be a good pet-owning neighbor.

A GOOD DOG NEIGHBOR

"Love me, love my dog" is what every responsible dog owner wants people to do. How lovable your dog is to others depends upon the kind of training and care he received from you. If you acquire a puppy, start training immediately while his habits are in the formative stage. If you acquire an older dog, you should allow both time and patience to train him to adjust to your lifestyle and become a welcome neighbor.

The time you spend training your dog will be regarded by long hours of loving companionship free from worry about your own property and that of your neighbors.

WALKING YOUR DOG

Dogs need daily exercise. Depending upon their age and temperament, they should have freedom to play in a fenced area or be walked on a leash.

A daily walk with your dog can be a treat for both of you when the dog is trained to walk quietly at heel or on a loose leash. Teaching your dog to walk at your side helps you control him so he won't jump on people, frighten, or possibly injure them. It also keeps your dog from jumping on other dogs. Walking a well-trained dog can be relaxing for you and safe exercise for him.

LOCAL LAWS

Know the local laws about dog owners' responsibilities. Many municipalities have laws requiring owners to clean up after their dogs. Failure to do so may result in a fine or jail sentence. Other municipal regulations require that dogs be wa led on a leash. Roaming dogs may be picked up, and their owners must pay fines to reclaim them. To learn about your local laws, contact your police department or animal control department.

CURBING YOUR DOG

When you walk your dog be sure to "curb" him. This means that you should guide him into the street next to the curb when he is about to relieve himself. Dogs learn this procedure quickly.

Many cities have laws claiming public right over the grassy area between the sidewalk and the street. However, the property owners are required to maintain this area. Dog owners who allow their dogs to soil this area are not making friends for themselves or their dogs by this thoughtless act.

Walking a dog, or keeping him in a fenced yard, helps prevent the problem of roaming dogs. Once a dog becomes a roamer, this annoying habit is difficult to break.

OBEDIENCE TRAINING

A dog trained to obey five basic commands — "Come," "Sit," "Heel," "Stay," and "Lie Down" — is a dog you can trust almost anywhere. The best way to teach your dog basic obedience is to attend an obedience school. "Courses" which consist of ten to 12 weekly sessions can teach you how to train your dog. Obedience schools are often operated by organizations such as YMCA's, kennel clubs and humane associations.

There are many good books on obedience training available through pet shops, bookstores and libraries.

FENCES AND THINGS

If your yard is fenced, containing your dog should not be a problem. Keep the area clean by disposing of the dropping regularly. Various scoop-type gadgets are available which make it easily to pick up dropping for disposal.

If your yard is not fenced, there are a number of ways you can keep your dog contained. One of the best and easiest is a swivel stake that screws firmly into the ground. A chain of any desired length can be purchased with a clasp at each end. One clasp hooks to the stake, the other to your dog's collar. Your dog now has freedom to run without becoming entangled around a tree or post.

Another device is a tree-to-tree wire with a pulley that holds the chain. A visit to a pet supply or hardware store, plus a little ingenuity on your part, will provide an outside exercise and relief area for your dog while keeping him at home.

THE UNBEARABLE BARK

There are few things as hard on nerves and tempers as listening to a dog barking, whining, howling or moaning for hours on end. Yet this is what some dog owners force their neighbors to endure.

BARKING WHILE YOU'RE AWAY

To cure this bad habit, train your dog to stay quietly alone in a room. Start this training when someone will be home all day. Put the dog alone in a room and shut the door. If he howls, stop him by scolding. If he continues, firmly command, "Be quiet" and lightly slap him under the chin with a loosely-rolled newspaper.

After an hour of good behavior, let him out of the room and praise him. Then, after about another hour, put him back in the room. Again, correct him if he barks or howls. After a while, your dog will learn that he is to remain quiet when left alone.

BARKING WHILE YOU'RE AT HOME

This usually occurs when a dog is kept too long in a fenced yard or on a chain. The dog becomes bored and barks at anything that comes along.

To prevent this barking, walk your dog early in the morning and late at night and keep him in the house during the day. Put him in the yard only when he needs to go outside for relief and scold him when he starts barking. Praise him when he has remained silent.

WHEN SERVICE PEOPLE COME

Whenever possible, give your dog a chance to become acquainted with the postman, meter reader and others who come to your home regularly. Tell the postman your dog's name and give him a treat to feed your dog. After a few meetings, your dog will recognize service people as friends.

Remember: Strict commands and praise for obeying work wonders when training a dog.

IF YOUR DOG IS A FEMALE

There are approximately 8-million puppies born in the United States each year. Thousands of them are cruelly abandoned and left to fend for themselves. Ask yourself what you will do with any puppies your female dog might produce.

A female dog usually comes in heat twice a year, and the period lasts about three weeks. During this time, male dogs will be seen around your house, possibly barking and howling and making a general nuisance of themselves. This can be very annoying to you and your neighbors.

Unless you plan to selectively breed your female, you should have her spayed. This is a relatively safe operation and eliminated the ongoing problem of a female in heat. Your veterinarian can tell you about spaying and other ways to prevent an unwanted pregnancy, such as giving your dog a medication to prevent her from coming into heat.

If you decide to breed your dog later in life and she comes into heat, an effective way to handle this situation is to place her in a boarding kennel during the heat period. If you don't, you must keep a close watch over her, keeping her in your house almost constantly during this time. When you take her for a walk, keep her on a short leash and be prepared to ward off male dogs. Better still, drive to a vacant or a secluded area where you can let her exercise—but never off the leash.

IF YOUR DOG IS A MALE

Unless you want to breed your male dog selectively, there are many good arguments for having him neutered. A neutered male is usually calmer, more companionable animal and is not tempted to run off in pursuit of females in heat. It is also less likely to engage in fights with other dogs. The charge for neutering usually pays off quickly in the extra benefits enjoyed by the owner.

DO'S AND DON'T OF DOG OWNERSHIP

Do

- teach your dog to be obedient and well-behaved.
- walk your dog on a leash and curb him when necessary.
- teach your dog to stay in your yard.
- train your dog to stay quietly within his quarters while you are away.
- train your dog to walk quietly at heel on a loose leash.
- have your dog properly licensed and vaccinated against diseases.
- take your dog to the veterinarian at least once a year for vaccinations and a checkup. A healthy dog makes a good pet neighbor.
- spay your female, unless you plan to breed her selectively.
- neuter your male, unless you plan to breed him selectively.

Don't

- let your dog roam the neighborhood.
- let your dog bark excessively.
- let your dog soil your neighbor's lawn or garden.
- let your dog (leashed or unleashed) jump on people.
- let your female dog have an affair with a stranger.

Missy munches Science Diet!
LEAVING YOUR PET IN A PARKED CAR CAN BE A DEADLY MISTAKE

On a warm day, the temperature in a parked car can reach 160° in a matter of minutes, even with partially opened windows.

With only hot air to breathe, your pet can quickly suffer brain damage or die from heatstroke.

Signs of heat stress: heavy panting, glazed eyes, rapid pulse, dizziness, vomiting deep red or purple tongue.

If your pet gets overheated, you must lower his body temperature immediately!

- Get him into shade and apply cool (not cold) water all over his body.
- Apply ice packs or cold towels to head, neck and check.
- Let him drink small amounts of water, or lick ice cubes or ice cream.
- Get your pet to a veterinarian right away - it could save his life.

WHEN YOU GO ON VACATION, BE KIND TO YOUR ANIMALS AND LEAVE THEM HOME

Taking pets with you on vacation limits your flexibility, and is no treat for the animal.

It's best to arrange for care and leave the pet at home. Care options include placing the animal with a friend or relative, hiring a neighborhood resident (usually a teenager) to feed and exercise your animals, employing an experienced pet-sitting service or boarding with a veterinarian or commercial establishment.

If you decide to use a commercial boarding establishment visit several and check them out with the Better Business Bureau before making a decision.

On your visit, survey all parts of the kennel or cattery's confinement, exercise and food-preparation areas. If the owner refuses to take you behind the scenes or fails to insist that you produce a vet's certificate of health and immunizations issued within the last two months, don't board your animal there. If you have time, test the best places by boarding the pet for a couple of weekends before an extended trip.

Pet-sitters either will move into your home while you're away or make visits several times a day to feed and exercise the animals. Animals are exposed to less infection and adjustment trauma at home than in kennels or someone else's home. Ask sitters for evidence of bonding and insurance, call their references and check them out with the Better Business Bureau.

Sitters may cost less than kennels if you have several pets, large aquariums, a number of birds or other animals unsuited to kennels or catteries. Generally speaking, cats, which are highly subject to infections when boarded, and very young kittens and pups are better off at home.

On the other hand, some animals are unsuited to sitters. These include very aggressive dogs - use a kennel with owners accustomed to such canines - and very old or sick pets, which are better off with a veterinarian with separate boarding facilities for sick animals.

Accustom cats and dogs from early youth to spending time in crates (cages), which is where they will be quartered much of the time at a boarding kennel.

Take pets to the vet for a thorough checkup and immunization boosters at least three weeks before you leave them with sitters at home or at any out-of-home locations. Leave explicit medical and care instructions with anyone who tends your pets.
THREE BEST IN SHOW WINNERS!

Whether its putting the finishing grooming touches on the winner for a show photograph, or staying to the end to make certain the motorhome starts, I'd like to thank three very special people in my life.

In July, 91 and again in July, 92 a group of well known Lhasa exhibitors and breeders met. Using their many years of showing Lhasas and THE JUDGING FORM 5 year history of every Judge’s show placement record, we revised the Judge Rating Report that rates Judging performance and Judge preference. Since the beginning of this year we have changed, upgraded or filled in information on over 100 different Judges.

This Lhasa Judge Report is as impartial as we could make it. We tried to be as fair as possible, and since the evaluating exhibitors came from all sections of the country, we feel we have a sound consensus.

Our ratings, based on a Judges constituency of placement, goes from the best rating of 1, to the poorest rating of 5.

We used a numeric code to define a Judge’s preference in nine different categories:

Size, Style, Movement, Temperament, Head, Structure, Coat, Mouth and Tail.

These preferences are based on the importance a Judge may place on a specific category, or what a Judge prefers such as SIZE: Small size, Larger size or Moderate size Lhasas.

The current Report is still not totally complete, as there continue to be a number of Judges we had very few shows to go on. In some cases the panel did not have enough experience with a Judge to evaluate their preferences. We will continue to update the Reports several times a year to fill in the blanks, add new Judges, and revise our Ratings on current Judge performance. We will issue updates on a timely basis.

While this report is for Lhasa exhibitors, the ratings are applicable to other breeds in the Non-Sporting group. Many have already been sold to other Non-Sporting group exhibitors.

Why so inexpensive? Sentinel Consultants Inc. is providing this service at cost. We would like to see the quality of Judges improve. We hope those who read the Report will support the more consistent Judges and avoid the less consistent ones.

ALAC & GREATER HOUSTON SPECIALTY TAPES

We have taped the LHASA APSO SPECIALTY and GREATER HOUSTON LAC SPECIALTY shows that were held on July 1st to 5th in Houston, Texas. There were over 170 dogs shown at the ALAC Specialty and a slightly smaller number at the Houston Specialty. The two judges both well known throughout the country were, Mrs. Michele Billings and Mr. Roy Ayers

The ALAC Specialty is available on three two hour tapes. One covers the Dog classes, the second the Bitch classes and third the Specials, Stud Dog, Brood Bitches, Parade of Champions and Brace class.

For the Greater Houston Specialty there are three tapes. One for the Sweeps and two to cover the balance of the show. The Sweeps will be a separate tape that can be purchased for $20.00. The Houston Specialty will be $40.00 for the set.

At the Houston LAC show two litter mates won Winners Dog & Bitch and BOS from the Puppy 6-9 month class. To our knowledge Julie Elliott’s Lhasa’s were the first to do this. Many of the top Lhasa’s in the country competed at the ALAC Specialty with Best In Show going to Barbara Wood’s Veteran Bitch Mary Puppins. A lot of excitement and some of the countries best class entries. You won’t want to miss this event. Commentary by two experts Dorothy Kendall and Julie Elliott.

If you have purchased our tapes of specialties or all-breed shows in the past, you know we give you a running commentary of every dog entered. This includes the sire, dam, owner, breeder and handler at the show. We use the new SONY V XT-PRO VHS master tape. These new tapes provide a 50% increase in picture quality. Our copies are duplicated on Sony ES tape. We use a new SONY VCR for copying and quality is excellent.

SPECIAL NOTICE: This year we will again be donating 10% of the gross sales of both the ALAC and the Greater Houston Specialty tape sales for the 1992 Trophy Fund to each of these shows. Thanks to your purchases we donated $165 to ALAC and Greater Detroit from last year’s tape sales.

Place your order by filling in the coupon below. Please enclose your check or money order. Don’t forget to include postage of $2.90 for one tape, or $4.00 for two tapes and $6.00 for three or more tapes. Since a complete set takes 10 hours to reproduce, orders will be filled on the basis of the earliest orders received. Please allow at least one week for delivery.

You can charge to your MASTERCARD, VISA or AMEX charge card by calling us or filling in the information below.

| ALAC & GREATER HOUSTON Specialty tape set | $100.00 + $6.00 postage |
| ALAC Specialty set only | $60.00 + $6.00 postage |
| Greater Houston set only | $40.00 + $4.00 postage |
| Greater Houston Sweeps | $20.00 + $2.90 postage |
| Individual tape (fill in) | $25.00 + $2.90 postage |
