President's Message . . .

Dear ALAC Members:

We all have so much to do, is there much time left for our Lhasa people? With all members of the family pitching in to make ends meet, most of us are too exhausted by the end of the day to spend much time with our four-legged friends. We feel lucky if we get the grooming done on a regular basis, and then we sometimes lose patience - just remember our Lhasas live every day looking for those moments we spend with them, and ask so little of us for all the love they give. Fifteen years is so short a time, but we are responsible for how those years of our dog's life is spent. Whether we send a puppy off with a new family, or keep him ourselves ... we must be committed for his lifetime.

I rescued a little old lady Lhasa the other day from a Humane Shelter; she came in with a matted blanket of hair, unable to see or hear (ear infection), a broken hind leg that had healed without being set, and teeth so badly encrusted with tartar that her mouth couldn't close. Despite it all, she is quiet and clean, joyous and undaunted - floppy leg and all. I know she is too old to be adopted (people don't want old dogs). So we call her "Sweetie" and try to make her feel at home, with pats and hugs and soft food. She's getting kind of pudgy, but we're not going to worry about that for now.

When you're showing that beautiful youngster, and collecting the ribbons, do you now where his pet brother is, and how he's faring? Will you take back that youngster that isn't working our for the family that bought him? Breeding dogs responsibly is a long-term commitment.

See you in Houston!

Joan

SECRETARY’S MESSAGE

By the time all of you read this, the election will be part of ALAC history and a new Board will be rubbing its palms together, ready to enthusiastically delve into the business at hand. Congratulations to all of those who won -- and to those who did not! It takes a great deal of courage to put your reputation (and maybe popularity) on the line and I salute you. For those members not listed on the slate of officers, I would like to take this opportunity to encourage those with talents and energy and a willingness to serve without personal gain to commit to the service of a committee. Many of the committee chairs are doing a GREAT job but assistance, even across the miles, is always needed and appreciated. It also helps to have someone off whom to bounce your ideas. Check your ALAC Handbook for a list of committees and make a phone call. While you’re scanning the Handbook, I would also like to emphasize the need for ALL members to be familiar with ALAC’s constitution and by-laws enclosed near the back of the book. Issues such as procedures; the time schedules surrounding events like elections; rules for motions and amendments to standing motions, etc., are discussed. As responsible members, we must take our membership into our OWN hands and offer input as is our privilege. You’ll be glad you did!

By this time, too, hopefully, the Andrews household has a new arrival. I was sorry to miss all of you at the National this year but previous commitments and an insistent obstetrician do tend to prevail. I’m probably busy but never too much to answer your call or letter. I am pleased to see much of the correspondence coming to this office from local Clubs marked “cc: Michael Santora.” For those of you who may not be aware, Mike is ALAC’s Local Club Liaison. His job is to keep the local Clubs informed about Board activity and the Board informed of your requests and comments. Continue to keep in touch with him -- if he can’t help you, he’ll refer you to someone who can! His address is:

Mr. Michael Santora
Local Club Liaison
12525 SW 240th Street
Princeton FL 33032
(305) 258-2240

Mike is available for your needs but so are the rest of us on the Board -- Don’t hesitate to call any Board member! Enjoy the rest of the summer and MANY WINS!

Sincerely,
Amy J. Andrews, Secretary

Dear ALAC Member,

With the installation of AKC's 900 number for its National Club Breeder Referral Service and in light of constant inquiries for membership mailing lists from commercial companies, I have been instructed by the Board to pose the following two (2) questions to you. Your response will assist ALAC in composing two separate lists of member names/addresses, one for referral for the National Club Breeder Referral Service and the other for commercial use. Please fill out and sign the following form.

QUESTION #1 Do you wish to be included on AKC's National Club Breeder Referral Service for Lhasa Apsos?

[ ] YES [ ] NO

If yes, please indicate how you wish to be listed and what services you are able to offer.

Name ______________________________

Kennel name ______________________________

Mailing Address ______________________________

Phone Number ______________________________

I am able to offer the following:

[ ] Adult Dog Sales or placement

[ ] Puppy sales

[ ] (Champion) Stud Service

[ ] Breed Information

[ ] Local Club Information

QUESTION #2 Do you wish to have your name and address included on a list made available to inquiring non-members or commercial companies (excluding the AKC)? This list will be separate from the National Club Breeder Referral list.

[ ] YES [ ] NO

Failure to answer either question or failure to return this form to the Secretary will result in the omission of your name from the listing(s). Please sign and date below.

OVULATION TIMING
The Key to Assuring Conception

Timing of the Fertile Period

Luteinizing Hormone (LH) is the key to ovulation timing. Normally, LH is present in the bitch’s blood in very small quantities. During the Estrous cycle, a 20 to 40 fold increase of serum LH, followed by a return to baseline values, occurs rapidly over a period of 24 hours.

It is this peak of LH that triggers ovulation and thus determines the fertile period of the bitch. All events subsequent to the LH peak are consistent between bitches, regardless of breed and age. Therefore, LH is the central event of the estrous cycle, and is the most accurate diagnostic tool for timing breedings.

The LH peak may occur anywhere from 3-28 days after the first observable signs of heat although the average is 8-12 days. Ovulation occurs 2 days after the LH peak. The ovocytes then take an additional 2-3 days to mature so that sperm penetration can occur, and will live for about 48-72 hours. Thus, the fertile period of the bitch falls between days 4 and 7 after the LH peak with the most fertile days being on days 5 and 6 post LH peak.

Progesterone, another important reproductive hormone in the bitch, is present in low levels before the LH peak and then rises beginning at the time of the LH peak. Therefore, accurate ovulation timing can be performed by detecting either the LH peak itself or this initial rise in progesterone.

For most natural matings or artificial inseminations with fresh semen, breeding should begin 2-3 days after the LH peak, and continue every 2-3 days until the end of the fertile period. When using chilled or frozen semen, or a stud dog with compromised semen quality, a veterinarian should be consulted.

The ICAGEN™ In-Hospital Ovulation Timing Test

Your veterinarian uses the ICAGEN Canine Progesterone Assay for fast, accurate in-hospital ovulation timing. All that is required is a simple 15 minute blood test, usually repeated every other day, until ovulation is detected. In most cases, only 3 to 5 tests are required.

Other Uses.....

The Same test can be used to time a Caesarean section with great accuracy. About 24 hours before normal whelping, progesterone drops back to low baseline levels. By daily testing just before the expected whelping date, one can precisely time a C-section, avoiding emergency surgery and/or premature puppies.

In addition, progesterone levels measured throughout pregnancy can assure that the bitch is maintaining a normal cycle.

Ovulation Timing.....
the key to a successful breeding

The actual fertile period in the bitch (the days that her eggs can be fertilized) last for only about three days out of the entire heat cycle.

The traditional signs for timing a breeding, such as acceptance of the male, changes in vaginal discharge and even vaginal cytology, can give only general information about ovulation timing. Why? Because these outward signs are a result of changes in estrogen levels, which occur over a period of 7 to 10 days before the beginning of the fertile period.

The only accurate way to time the fertile period is by detecting the LH peak. This hormone surge actually stimulates ovulation and all subsequent events follow the same pattern in all bitches and in all breeds.

Your ICG Network Veterinarian has the ICAGEN Canine Progesterone Assay which allows you to detect this LH surge and know 3 to 4 days in advance when the fertile period begins.

AKC NEWS RELEASE

WELCOMING "AKC PUPPIES" A MAGAZINE CONCEPT

The American Kennel Club announced plans to publish a new magazine in 1993 which will acquaint first-time puppy owners with responsible care and training techniques. "AKC PUPPIES" will be sent to thousands of new puppy owners that have been identified by AKC's computerized registration system. In an effort to reach the entire dog-owning public with its message about canine welfare, "AKC PUPPIES" will also be distributed to veterinary clinics nationwide.

This high quality, 48-page magazine will contain educational articles on such topics as choosing a veterinarian, grooming, housebreaking, basic obedience training, and more. The Canine Good Citizen test and other AKC programs will also be highlighted. Every issue will stress health and welfare as well as the joys of owning dogs.

The first issue of "AKC PUPPIES," which will be published quarterly, will be delivered to new dog owners free of charge in January 1993.

AKC BOARD APPROVES USE OF IMPORTED SEMEN

At their April meeting, the Board of Directors of the American Kennel Club approved the use of imported frozen or fresh extended semen for all breeds, from any country whose stud book is recognized by the AKC, provided the following requirements are met:

- Use of imported semen must receive approval by the registration division of the American Kennel Club before any insemination is done.
- The extraction, storage, and shipping must be done under veterinary supervision. Certification to this will be required on an AKC form.
- Application to register such a litter will include:
  - Certification of the owner of the sire and the veterinarian who did the extraction and shipping.
  - Certified three-generation pedigree on the sire.
  - Certification of the owner of the dam and the veterinarian who does the insemination.

AKC INTRODUCES CERTIFIED LIST OF AWARDS SERVICE

Do you remember who gave your Champion his first Major? Where your U.D. bitch earned her C.D.? When your frequent field trial winner passed his hunting test?

Of course you can look it up. It's in your old show catalogs, scrapbooks and show or field trail record books. And an impressive array of awards it will be—just as soon as you get around to typing it neatly.

Well, the AKC has done it for you. Now you can have your dog's lifetime show, obedience, tracking, field trial and hunting test awards at your fingertips. Or hanging proudly on the wall.

The American Kennel Club is pleased to inaugurate their newest service: the CERTIFIED LIST OF AWARDS. These attractive certificates are light green trimmed in white, with a darker green border and the AKC logo embossed in gold. Lettering is big, black and bold for easy reading.

Your dog's registered name and number, including all titles, appears in large print in the upper right-hand corner. Beneath it, in smaller print, is the date the certificate was issued and how many pages it contains (sometimes more than one certificate is necessary to display a dog's entire career). The certificate(s) lists each event, including the date, class, award, and judge, where your dog won, placed, qualified or passed (except that the judge is not listed for Field Trials and Hunting Tests).

Introduced at the American Kennel Club's National Invitational Dog Championship on April 7, 1992, and sent to the participants, Certified Lists of Awards certificates are available for $20.00 per list no matter how many certificates it takes to list all of your dog's wins, placements and qualifying scores.

To purchase your dog's Certified Lists of Wards, write:

The American Kennel Club,
Certified List of Awards,
5580 Centerview Dr., Suite 200,
Raleigh, NC 27606.

Be sure to include your name and address, your dog's registered name and number and a check or money order for $20.

GOLDIE......................at 9-3/4" stands tall and proud of her Bred-by class win at 1991 Detroit Specialty under breeder judge, Ms. Gerti Bracksieck.

Since this win, Goldie completed her championship with back to back majors & BOBs under Maxine Beam & Ed Bivin, and group placements under Maxine Beam & Wm. E. Dean. She Won the Non-Sporting Group under Edward Loebe at CKC, a Group IV under Michelle Billings at Garden City just to mention a few of her accomplishments.

Goldie's bags are packed for the Houston & ALAC Specialties to compete as a Special, with the best of the best, and will be making her debut in the Obedience ring. Hopefully she will give new meaning to the term "Beauty & Brains". Goldie and I look forward to seeing you all there.

Proposed bill #3718

It would be well worth our time and energy to write to our congressmen. Unless we and all the dog organizations express our displeasure with the proposed law we will sooner or later find ourselves restricted in our breeding, showing and selling of dogs. There are All-Breed clubs, Specialty clubs, and other dog groups working towards having this proposed bill killed. Individual voices in mass are probably the most effective. Refer to your April/May Bulletin for a list of Congressmen and Women, as well as a suggestion on how to write. The Proposed bill is on page 68 of this issue of the Bulletin.
Xia is going WB and BOS at the Warrenton Kennel Club. Xia now has 12 points in limited showing. We are looking for her last major. Thank you to the judges that recognized her qualities.

LHASA JUDGES - RATINGS & PREFERENCE REPORT

If you want to save money and show your Lhasa where he or she can win, you need the Lhasa Judge Rating Report.

Our ratings, based on a judges constituency of placement, goes from the best rating of 1, to the poorest rating of 5. We used a numeric code to define a judge's preference in nine different categories:

Size, Style, Movement, Temperament, Head, Structure, Coat, Mouth and Tail.

These preferences are based on the importance a judge may place on a specific category, or what a judge prefers such as:

SIZE: Small size, Larger size or Moderate size Lhasas.

Cost of the REPORT & updates rating 330 Judges, is just $6.00. The Lhasa Judges Report is a non-profit publication of Sentinel Consultants Inc. to improve the quality of judging for the Lhasa breed. We welcome the input of Lhasa exhibitors, just write to us giving us your evaluation of a judge's preference based on your showing experience.

ALAC & GREATER HOUSTON SPECIALTY TAPES

We will be taping the LHASA APSO SPECIALTY and GREATER HOUSTON LAC SPECIALTY shows that will be held on July 1st to 5th in Houston, Texas. Last year there was a large turnout of over 200 Lhasas from all parts of the United States. The two judges both well known throughout the country are, Mrs. Michele Billings and Mr. Roy Ayers.

From our past tappings of Specialty shows, we expect that the ALAC Specialty will be available on three two hour tapes. One will cover the Dog classes, the second the Bitch classes and third the Specials, Stud Dog, Brood Bitches, Hall of Fame and Brace class.

For the Greater Houston Specialty there will be three tapes. One for the Sweeps and two to cover the balance of the show. The Sweeps will be a separate tape that can be purchased for $20.00. The Houston Specialty will be $40.00 for the set.

We will not be taping the ALAC Obedience or the Futurity because we need a day off between the two shows. As we did last year we will be offering the complete set of all 5 tapes for $100. Individual tapes will be available for $25.00 each.

If you have purchased our tapes of specialties or all-breed shows in the past, you know we give you a running commentary of every dog entered. This includes the sire, dam, owner, breeder and handler at the show. We use the new SONY V XT-PRO VHS master tape. These new tapes provide a 50% increase in picture quality. Our copies are duplicated on Sony ES tape. We use a new SONY VCR for copying and quality is excellent.

SPECIAL NOTICE: This year we will again be donating 10% of the gross sales of both the ALAC and the Greater Houston Specialty tape sales for the 1992 Trophy Fund to each of these shows. Thanks to your purchases we donated $165 to ALAC and Greater Detroit from last year’s tape sales.

You can order either or both tape sets today by filling in the coupon below. Please enclose your check or money order. Don’t forget to include postage of $2.90 for one tape, or $4.00 for two tapes and $6.00 for three or more tapes. Since a complete set takes 10 hours to reproduce, orders will be filled on the basis of the earliest orders received. Please allow at least one week for delivery.

TAPES CAN ALSO BE PURCHASED AT THE SHOW IN HOUSTON AND YOU SAVE THE POSTAGE.

You can charge to your MASTERCARD, VISA or AMEX charge card by calling us or filling in the information below.

Please send me the tapes indicated below:

POINT SYSTEM ERROR

The AKC has found several statistical errors in the point schedule due to go into effect May 15, 1992. In some cases, the number of dogs or bitches required for each point rating is too high, in other too low.

The schedule is being recalculated; it will be republished within the next few months with a new effective date. Until then, the May 15, 1991, point schedule will remain in effect. The 1991 schedule should, therefore, continue to be published in any catalogs for shows held prior to the new effective date.

OBEEDIENCE JUDGING APPLICATION CHANGES

At times, AKC is criticized for not providing and requiring adequate training for those going through the process of becoming an Obedience Judge of all classes. As an effort toward improving this situation, the process for persons seeking approval to judge obedience classes has changed, effective January 1, 1992.

The new procedure adds the requirement of an interview by an Obedience Field Representative for all applicants, not just at the Novice level. An important difference in the interview at Open and Utility level is that it will not be a test, but will instead focus on aspects of what makes a "good judge." Judging philosophy will be stressed, not just specific procedures. For example, the importance of being able to see both the dog and the handler at all times they are in the ring will be explored. (Most of the time, those outside the ring can see both at all times. If they see a substantial error, the Judge does not score, the judge's standing is diminished and the sport of Obedience suffers.) An interchange of ideas between the applicant and the Field Rep will produce both better judges and a better relationship between the Field Rep and the Judges. When this happens, all parties as well as the sport become the beneficiaries.

The interview will be conducted at ringside while a regular class is being judged. (The Judge judging the class will be informed in advance of the interview process going on outside the ring). The advantage to this procedure is that there are actual situations in the ring to observe and evaluate, not just theoretical questions to discuss.

Questions about the procedure or suggestions for improvement are welcome. Write to Roger N. Ayers, Director of Obedience-Field, AKC, 51 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10010. Or call his "800" no.: 1-800-221-8946.

EMERGENCY!

WHAT DO YOU DO?

In an emergency at night or on the weekend, when your regular veterinarian is not available, what do you do? Do you know of a reliable emergency clinic nearby where you can rush your dog? Is that the time to look for a vet? Do you panic?

It was suggested by one of our members that the Digest list the names, addresses and phone numbers of reliable emergency animal hospitals in the metro area. A quick look in the Yellow Pages uncovered 16 "emergency animal hospitals."

But that's not the answer. In the first place, we know nothing about each of these clinics. Secondly, even if we had heard good or bad things about any or all of these, we cannot put ourselves in a position to recommend them—pro or con.

The only answer to this:

1. Check with your own veterinarian about what to do in case of an emergency. Is your animal hospital open 7 days a week? (Some are.) What about nights? Does he or she have an emergency telephone number? Can he or she strongly recommend one of the emergency clinics?

2. If an emergency hospital is recommended, pay them a visit. Ask to be shown around. (A good time would be late at night, which is the time you would most likely need them.) Find out what they can and can't do.

3. How skilled are you at taking care of most emergencies yourself? Have you studied animal first aid? There are some good books, seminars, friends that can help train you.

In other words, be prepared. Don't wait for an emergency to happen. It may be too late.

INTRODUCTION

Gastric dilatation-volvulus (GDV), or "bloat," is a problem predominately in the larger, deep chested breeds of dogs including: Great Danes, St. Bernards, Borzois, Irish Setters, Blood Hounds, and German Shepherds. Bloating occurs also in Pekingese and Dachshunds due to their deep chest anatomy. GDV is most common in male dogs that are middle aged or older.

CAUSES

The exact cause of GDV is unknown, but there must be a source of gas. Initially, bacterial fermentation was believed to be causing the gas formation. However, researchers have been unable to find an organism that is a) common to all cases of bloat; and b) able to produce large volumes of gas in a very short period of time. Further research indicates that aerophagia, the swallowing of air, is one source of the gas. Aerophagia occurs when the dog eats rapidly and/or eats large volumes of food at a single meal. Another possible source of the gas is the production of carbon dioxide during the normal chemical reactions that occur when digestive secretions from the salivary glands and pancreas mix with the hydrochloric acid that is produced by the stomach.

In addition to large volumes of gas, there is believed to be underlying anatomical and functional defects in the dog that suffers from GDV. The suspected anatomical problem is in the ligaments attaching the liver to the stomach and to the duodenum. These ligaments are usually tight, causing the liver, stomach and duodenum to rest very close to each other within the abdomen. In dogs affected with bloat these ligaments are very lax. This laxity allows for above normal amounts of free motion for the stomach, which may result in the stomach's ability to twist around two axis during GDV. The functional deficiency contributing to bloat is "gastric retention". Researchers have documented that dogs with GDV take longer to empty their stomachs than do normal dogs. Thus, the stomach stays fuller for longer periods of time allowing for prolonged periods of gastric distension, the role of diet is unclear in the production of GDV. Bloating occurs in dogs that are fed free choice and selectively with equal probability. Diets of meat, or cereal grains, or meat and cereal combination produce bloat with equal chances. The presence or absence of soybean in the diet makes no significance to the probability of GDV.

DISEASE PROCESS

The progression of GDV is quite dynamic and involves many body systems. The end result is shock and the circulatory failure, respiratory failure and death associated with it. Decompression is the first and foremost factor in disease management. Passage of a stomach tube can usually be accomplished with the right equipment: mouth gag, tubes, bucket, funnel and man power. Medical therapy for shock included intravenous fluid therapy, corticosteroids, and antibiotics. Other drugs and treatment may be indicated by the dogs condition when presented to your veterinarian. Surgery can be used to prevent recurrence of volvulus. However, sometimes it is required to relieve GDV. Surgery is usually required after serious cases of bloat to remove dead and dying tissues that may result in peritonitis and possible death of the dog.

PREVENTION

Because the exact cause of GDV is unknown it is difficult to advocate specific preventative measures. The following is a list of some suggestions:

1) Feed frequently, in small amounts
2) Reduce that amount of exercise both during and after meals
3) Moisten foods
4) Decrease fat content of the diet (high levels of fat delay gastric emptying).

PASSAGE OF A STOMACH TUBE

1) Assemble required equipment and personnel:
   a) stomach e) funnel
   b) mouth gags f) tape
c) bucket g) stethoscope
d) vaseline h) several People

2) Measure tube distance while dog is standing: tip of nose to last rib. Mark with tape.
3) Lubricate the section of tube that will be easier if you set the dog a low table.
4) Place dog in the sitting position. It will be easier if you set the dog on a low table.
5) Insert and secure mouth gag. (Mark power needed at this point to hold dog still).
6) Pass stomach tube gently and slowly. Allow the dog to swallow the tube. Twist in a clockwise direction.
7) Check for placement of the tube, by blowing gently into the tube while listening over the stomach area for bubbles/gas sounds.
8) Lower tube below level of dog. Allow for gas escape. Pressing on the stomach may help. Be GENTLE.
9) When distension relieved, remove tube by folding over the end. With one quick movement pull down and out in an arching motion. (prevent aspiration of any fluids left in tube.)

LOCAL CLUB LIAISON REPORT

To: Local Club Designees

As Local Club Liaison, I am planning to meet with Local Club Designees at 6:00 pm on Thursday, July 2, at the Doubletree Hotel. The exact location of the meeting will be posted by Don Evans in the Hospitality room of the hotel or I will advise you sooner if I can.

I chose this meeting time in hopes that I could receive input from you about your concerns, impressions and matters which I could bring to the Board Meeting to be held immediately following our meeting.

I would especially welcome receiving from you in advance of the meeting items to be included on an agenda.

Hopefully, you will want to participate in this meeting and I promise to bring all matters discussed to the ALAC Board meeting and report back to you on them promptly.

I look forward to hearing from you soon and meeting with you in July.

The most frequent referrals for canine behavior problems are due to dominance aggression. In one clinic, 82% of canine aggression cases were dominant to people whereas the rest of the cases involved territory, competition or fear of other animals. A dog dominant to a particular person may disobey, threaten, resist, or attack that person when challenged.

A diagnosis of dominance aggression must be established by differentiating this behavioral problem from medically induced causes of aggression. Medical caused included endocrine disorders, infectious diseases, brain tumors, hepatic encephalopathy, hyperkinesis, psychomotor epilepsy, Springer rage, copper storage diseases, visual impairment, painful conditions resulting from anal sacculitis, arthritis, and otitis.

Once medical caused have been ruled out, behavioral history and relationships of the dog with the family need to be determined to interpret possible combinations of medical and behavioral causes of aggression.

Dominant dogs usually exhibit signs of six months of age. Signs of dominance aggression include:

1. Listens only when feels like -- stubborn, may be difficult to train.

2. Snapping, growling, or other dominance threats under any of the following circumstances:
   A. physical or verbal punishment
   B. staring or eye contact
   C. patting, firm handling, lifting, or hugging
   D. grooming, nail trimming, ear cleaning, or other non-painful procedures

3. The dog is protective of:
   A. sleeping areas, hiding places, passageways
   B. food
   C. objects.

4. Pushes owner -- demands own way -- may even become aggressive if it doesn't get its own way.

5. Overprotective of territory and family members -- dog may be possessive of family members and becomes aggressive during kissing, greeting, handshakes, etc.

6. Misbehaves in owner's presence -- jumping up, mounting, house soiling, stealing food, raiding garbage, marking, destruction, jumping on furniture.

7. Dog displays dominant postures or gestures in play or other interactions with owners, e.g., inhibited bite, always wants to be on top.

(Chuchill and Squire are planning a repeat breeding this summer)
In the month of April, it was possible for a handler/owner of a heavily campaigned dog to show at least nineteen out of the thirty days of the month. These shows include not only the usual weekend shows, but also the Cherry Blossom Circuit, American Kennel Club's Invitational and the International Cluster (to name some events held during the week). By adding not less than seven days travel time to get to and from all the shows, it is easy to realize that some fanciers have been running non-stop since the beginning of the month.

It is not just the two-legged handler/owner who has been affected by this seemingly ongoing marathon (which actually started earlier in the year), but the four-legged canine has also been impacted: sometimes to his detriment. By the end of April, some of the heavily-campaigned dogs, who attended all major events as well as usual weekend shows, were obviously at less than top form. Some were dragging around the ring, others were visibly ill. In almost all cases, the dogs were tired and if one looked carefully, it showed. The sparkle in the eye, jauntness of gait, the freshness in demeanor were missing elements in animals pushed to the max.

Given what has transpired and the changing dog world, namely the "hell-bent" attitude by those desiring to win at all cost, both physical and financial, we must call a halt to this foolishness before another dog dies or an owner/handler is stressed beyond his ability to cope. To say that all campaigned dogs, once leaving the show grounds, return to being ordinary dogs is absurd; to maintain that a crate is a home is crazy; and to de-emphasize creature comforts for both man and beast borders on the bounds of sanity.

Somehow, something must be done to bring reality back into the scheme of things. No win is worth a dog's life. No rating system is worth the risk of financial insecurity. A dog and its win should never be allowed to become an extension of one's ego. All of this is easier said than done. In today's society where there is so much emphasis on winning—on being the best at whatever one does—it is easy to realize how this emphasis invaded the dog world. However, the dog world does not merely depend on people and their striving to win at all cost. Accompanying man in his quest for the win is the canine—a canine ill-equipped to withstand the stress and strain of a heavy show career that sees him from van to show, to plane to show, to van to show, to plane and so on with hardly a day to remain at home and "just be a dog."

The rating systems are the culprit behind this mad rush across the United States in search of the most BOB's, Group and BIS wins in a given year. From January until December, the never-ending circuit envelopes the dog fancy. As recently as the mid-'80s, heavy duty campaigning only started in the late fall and lasted two months. Afterwards, all involved, man and canine, victor and loser alike, collapsed into an exhausted heap. Today, no time has been allotted for collapsing. No free days have been set aside for dogs to "just be a dog" and man to recharge his batteries. This madness must stop.

As long as the dog fancy feels that there must be a method of deciding "top dog" within a breed, group and/or all-breed, serious thinking must be done to develop a procedure that defines a rating system based on quality and not quantity wins. AKC must be the ultimate supporter of such a system and this system must become the best in the country and the only one that truly counts.

How would the system work?

A variety of suggestions—territorial, specific number of wins, percentages of times shown to wins—have been made by concerned, interested fanciers. Factored into any process must be judges, numbers in competition, and enumeration of shows.

The only way to devise a viable, worthy system is for AKC to take the ball and establish a Think Tank comprised of active involved members of the dog community. This Think Tank must be charged with making an in depth study into the various ideas and factors designed to take the focus away from the pure quantity of wins and replace it with an emphasis on quality wins—only when this is done will this mad rushing about cease to exist and the dog world return to some sense of normalcy; only then can a top-winner be given time to "just be a dog"; and only then can the owner/handler afford the opportunity to reflect on what showing dogs is really all about.

Dear Friends,

Poppin and I would like to thank you all for your help and support on our way to his Championship. It would not have been possible for us to succeed without the help of our friends.

First and foremost, Beverly, thank you for the lovely boy you entrusted to my care. You know it was a case of love at first sight for me, but you must have been worried when I asked you “what’s a show home?” Your encouragement and support along with the honesty of your critiques helped Poppin and me to progress beyond the stage of nervous novices to finished champion.

We made so many friends along the way; Susan, thank you for the grooming tips and working with us in the ring. Your suggestions were always helpful and Poppin adores you. Debbie Burke, thank you for your help in coat care and for your kind comments when your help paid off. Nancy, thanks for taking the time to show me some grooming techniques at the shows. Barbara Schwartz for all of your support - Thanks.

Thank you to the Judges who appreciated Poppin’s qualities: Mr. Rosen, Mr. Felton, Mr. Lyons, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Peterson, Mrs. Lepley, Mr. Rowe, Mrs. Munden, and Dr. Manning.

Thank you Gina and Pat, our travelling and show companions for being there and sharing our joy on that special day. And to our many friends in NCALAC and CMLAF who share all the ups and downs of the dog show life and who said it could be done! Norma, thank you for the championship towel way back in December, it served as a constant sign of your belief!

Finally, thank you for the cards and letters of congratulations, Ken, Jeannie, Pat R. and Pat H. and Joan. They meant so much and we’re glad you shared our great pleasure in this accomplishment.

Thank You All!

Ann and Poppin

Compiled from the records of 1992 THE JUDGING FORM
(Copyright publication of Sentinel Consultants Inc. - Ken Troy, President)

The Lhasa Apso standings for 1992 are based on a point system as follows:
- Best In Show.......................... 10 points
- Group 2.................................. 4 points
- Group 3.................................. 3 points
- Group 4.................................. 2 points

In the event of point ties, dog with the highest number of Best of Breeds first. After that dogs are listed alphabetically.
In very limited showing "Tali" has 7 points (including 1 major) with 2 Best of Breeds and a Group II - Thank you Mrs E Rotman.

BEWARE OF H.R. 3718
THE "PUPPY PROTECTION ACT"

On November 6, 1991 Congressman Ben Cardin (D-MD) and 10 cosponsors introduced H.R. 3718 - the "Puppy Protection Act". According to the sponsor the act is a "lemon Law for puppies purchased from pet stores and commercial breeders" that would provide recourse to consumers who purchase a sickly or unsound puppy. Congressman Cardin says the legislation will "create an economic incentive for pet stores and puppy mills to correct the fearful conditions under which so many puppies are produced and cared for early in their lives". The bill was developed in collaboration with the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS)*, which is mounting an aggressive campaign to secure its enactment.

The bill gives puppy purchasers the right to return a puppy for a replacement or refund of their purchase price and/or collect from the seller up to three times the original purchase price of the puppy in reimbursement for veterinary costs incurred in diagnosing or treating illness, diseases or congenital defects, for up to 24 months after purchase of the puppy. The bill also imposes notice and recordkeeping requirements on sellers, provides for civil fines for failure to comply with notice and recordkeeping requirements, and provides for state and Federal court suits and recovery of attorneys fees and costs to enforce compliance with its provisions.

The good news is that somebody has decided to do something about the puppy mill problem. The bad news is that the bill as introduced would define virtually every breeder in the nation as a puppy mill. The legislation covers everyone who sells any puppies if they also maintain three or more unspayed bitches "for breeding purposes". The legislation would impose potentially large financial liability on all "breeders" and encourage expensive and heroic veterinary treatment at the breeder's expense. It established bases for claims against breeders that are vague and subjective. It would cover so many breeders that enforcement would become impossible, and would inevitably lead to absence of enforcement even against true puppy mills and pet stores, the legislation's ostensible target.

H.R. 3718 has been referred to the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection and Competitiveness of the House Energy and Commerce Committee. Following is a list of the bill's co-sponsors and a list of the members of the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection and Competitiveness.

If you have objections to H.R. 3718, you should write to Congressman Cardin and the bill's cosponsors and tell them so. You should also write to Congresswoman Carids Collins, Chairwoman of the Subcommittee and member of the Subcommittee. Whether or not anything happens to this legislation is up to them. Tell them of your objections and urge them not to act on the legislation. Send a copy of either letter, or write a separate letter, to your own Congressman or Congresswoman as well. If action on this legislation occurs, it will likely begin with Subcommittee hearings sometime in late winter or early spring.

Summary of Significant Provisions

Who is covered:
Any person who, in the ordinary course of business, engages in the acquisition of dogs for resale, and;
Dog breeders who regularly have not less than 3 intact female dogs on the breeding premises for breeding purposes.

What does the bill provide:
The bill:
A. provides that a person can return a dog to the seller for a refund or replacement and/or collect up to three times the original purchase price of the dog as reimbursement of veterinary costs that are reasonably necessary to examine or treat a dog for any of the conditions specified in the bill;
B. requires sellers of dogs to keep certain records and to make certain oral and written disclosures to purchasers and obtain signed statements that such assurances were made;
C. permits persons to sue sellers in state or Federal court for failure to carry out their obligations under the act and to recover court costs and attorneys fees in addition to any settlement imposed by the court;
D. permits the Secretary of Commerce to write regulations implementing the act and to impose civil fines for violations of the act or regulations.

Under what conditions can a purchaser obtain a refund and recover veterinary costs?
A. for up to 14 days after purchase if a licensed veterinarian certifies that the dog has any illness, disease, physical ailment or unsoundness, symptoms of a contagious or infectious disease, internal or external parasite, or disturbed, distressed or antisocial behavior that results from conditions existing prior to the purchase that renders the dog unfit as a pet;

B. for up to 14 days if the dog dies of causes other than an accident or injury sustained after purchase;
C. for up to 1 year if a licensed veterinarian certifies that the dog "does not possess the characteristics of the breed standard" the breeder represented the dog to be;
D. for up to 2 years if a licensed veterinarian certifies that the dog has a congenital or hereditary disorder that adversely affects the health of the dog.

At whose option if the remedy?
The remedy of refund or replacement is the choice of the purchaser. The breeder must provide the refund or replacement dog and reimbursement of veterinary costs within 10 business days after receipt of a claim from the purchaser.

Can the breeder limit his/her exposure?
Once a dog has been sold, the breeder cannot limit his/her liability if the buyer and the veterinarian want to take heroic measures to treat the dog. The breeder is liable for up to three times the purchase price of the dog plus refund of the purchase price.
At the time of sale the breeder can limit his/her exposure by notifying the consumer in writing of the illness, disease, ailment, parasite, behavior problem or disorder and the full ramifications of the problem and obtains a signed waiver that the consumer understands the notification and waives his/her right to remedies under the act. However, the breeder cannot waive the remedies if the claim is that the dog does not possess the characteristics of the breed standard.

The breeder cannot require a purchaser to sign a general waiver of remedies that does not disclose the condition being waived.

What notification and recordkeeping responsibilities are imposed on breeders?
At the time of purchase of a dog the breeder must provide written notice to the purchaser of the purchaser’s rights and remedies under the act, orally explain the written notice, and obtain from the purchaser a signed acknowledgement that the purchaser received and fully understands the written notice and oral explanation.
The breeder is also required to keep and maintain for two years after purchase, the name and address of the purchaser, a copy of any signed waiver, and the signed acknowledgement referred to above.
The breeder is required to conspicuously display at the premises a written notice to the public of the rights and remedies of a buyer under the act.

Failure to fulfill any of the above requirements may result in a civil fine not to exceed $1000 for each violation.

What other legal recourse does the buyer have?
The act provides that any buyer who is damaged by the failure of the breeder to fulfill his/her obligations under the act may file suit in State or if the damages claimed exceed $10,000, in Federal court. If the buyer prevails, the breeder is liable, in addition to any settlement ordered by the court, for the payment of the buyer's attorneys fees and court costs.

CHAMPION SAN JO'S RUSTY NAIL, ROM
Not long ago a Lhasa friend asked why we had never publicized the accomplishments of Rusty. Well balanced, correct in size at 10-112 inches, level in top line with lovely carriage, he epitomized the Lhasa in head and expression, reflecting a rare sweetness of temperament as well. He represented his breed with great credit in the show ring, but it was his contribution to our breeding program that left his easily recognized stamp on progeny. In limited use at stud, his 23 champion sons and daughters received and have perpetuated Rusty’s qualities on to his grandchildren. He has given us much to be proud of and to go forward with.

Int. & Cez. Ch. Anbara's Justa Teddy Bear x Ch. Anbara's Abra-Ka-Dabra, ROM

Rusty's sire, Grinner, is a joyful little Lhasa whose whole manner is the celebration of life. He is Mr. Personality and always thinks everything he does is a sheer delight. Handled through his specials career by Mr. Doug Holloway for Dr. and Mrs. Tom Weil, he won many groups along with his Best In Show. Used rarely at stud, he is the sire of 9 champions including a Grand Futurity Winner. He is owned and loved by Barbara Wood and Rita Holloway.

Rusty’s dam, Dasher, continues to hold the record as Top Winning Lhasa Best In Show Bitch with a record 5 All-Breed Best In Shows as well as innumerable Specialty wins. She was ALAC’s National Specialty Winner in both 1983 and 1984 at the ages of 8 and 9 years. The dam of 8 champions in 4 litters, (one a litter of one), she was the ultimate combination of showman and beloved housepet. Unforgettable to all who knew her, she will never be replaced in our hearts.
Rusty’s son, Reefer, is enjoying an overseas adventure with our Finnish friend, Juha Kares. He has already made his show debut with a breed win and Group 2 over champions, has several imminent litters, and has acquired a rakish Finnish thank you woof! Reefer has contributed to a number of U.S. breeding programs and we are hoping for his mark of influence in Scandinavia as well. *Eligible 1992

International Canine Genetics’ advanced technology, developed with 3 years of research and over $1 million invested will provide you with the highest chances of conception available today. This system includes canine-specific freezing processes, storage and shipping facilities designed to protect your dog’s valuable semen, and a network of veterinarians trained to handle frozen semen inseminations.

Why have semen frozen?

* Long Term Storage

If your stud has and/or produces those enduring qualities which should be preserved for the breed or your own future breeding program, you should consider having his semen frozen. This will guarantee his breeding potential for future generations, even in the event of unexpected sterility, disease or death. Researchers have estimated that bull semen will last over 10,000 years; there is every reason to expect a similar lifespan for canine semen.

* For Breeding When The Stud Is Not Available

Occasionally, a stud dog is not available when an individual bitch needs to be bred, whether it is because he is on a show or trial circuit, he is overbooked, unavoidable scheduling conflicts exist, etc. The use of frozen semen will enable that important breeding to take place.

* Long-Distance and International Breedings

Prolonged shipping times involved with great distances, customs clearance delays, and quarantine restrictions often preclude the possibility of using chilled semen to accomplish long-distance breedings to avoid shipping valuable dogs and/or bitches. Since frozen semen remains viable, when properly packaged in shipping containers, for several weeks, it will enable these important breedings to take place.

How are collections done?

Semen is collected from stud dogs by manual stimulations; the different parts, or fractions, of the ejaculate, are collected separately so that only good quality sperm-rich semen is frozen and stored. In general, semen of better quality with a higher sperm count is collected when the dog’s libido is high. Therefore, we try to closely approximate a typical breeding situation for each stud; owners are encouraged to provide a bitch in season to use as a "teaser" if one is available. In addition, if the dog associates a particular item with breeding, such as a rug, table, breeding rack, etc., we ask that you bring it with you. Some dogs may be difficult to collect semen from, and repeated attempts may be necessary. Usually, we can try to ejaculate a dog twice in one day if the first attempt was unsuccessful.

What is done with the semen?

Immediately after the collection, the semen is evaluated under a microscope. If the quality is sufficient for freezing, the sample is then extended with a buffer solution that protects the sperm cells during freezing and thawing. ICG uses several different buffers, selecting the one that best suits the individual stud’s semen. A sperm count is performed and the sample is further diluted to a uniform concentration that has been found to be the most advantageous for both the freeze and insemination. The semen is frozen in straws. Each individually labeled. After freezing, a small aliquot of sperm is thawed to judge quality; average motility post-thaw is 40-60%.
"Willie" is shown finishing his championship at the National Capital Area Lhasa Apso Specialty with a 5 point major on April 17, 1992 under Mrs R C Thomas. Thank you Mrs Thomas for this memorable win and to the following judges for making his championship possible: Mrs Edith Nash Hellerman (4 point major), Mrs Lena Wiseman, Mr Louis Harris, Mr Emil Klinkhart (3 point major & BOB), Mrs Rose Ellen Fetter & Mrs Eve Whitmore for his Group III.

"Willie" was shown to this win by his 17 year old breeder/owner, Anne. We are very proud of them both.

How long does the process take?

The entire process takes 4-5 hours from the time of the collection. However, clients are present for the first 15-45 minutes only. Expect to spend a little more time during the first visit to take care of necessary paperwork.

How and where is the semen stored?

Frozen semen is stored in liquid nitrogen at a temperature of -196°C, which keeps semen viable for an indefinite period of time. Since electricity is not required, there is no fear of accidental thawing due to a power failure. Semen is stored short term at the freezing center, and is then transported, at no charge to clients, to ICG’s offices in either southern California or Pennsylvania for permanent storage. ICG’s full time staff is then available to assure proper monitoring of storage facilities and handling of semen when used for breeding.

How much semen will be stored from each collection?

The quantity of straws obtained is directly dependent on the dog’s sperm count; for most medium to large breeds, 10 to 20 straws per ejaculate are expected. Frozen semen can then be used to breed a bitch by either vaginal or intrauterine insemination. In general, when used vaginally, 3 inseminations are recommended using 4 straws each time (therefore 12 straws per bitch are used). Intrauterine insemination is generally conducted surgically, and performed only once, requiring from 2-4 straws. The method used depends on the quantity and quality of semen in storage, as well as the reproductive history of the bitch.

The quantity and quality of semen produced in one ejaculate can vary, sometimes considerably, from dog to dog and collection to collection. Factors that affect the ejaculate include:

* AGE—In general, a young mature dog (2-4) years of age) will have a higher sperm count and better quality semen than older dogs or young immature dogs.

* GENERAL HEALTH STATUS—An ill or stressed dog will rarely produce good quality semen. It can take as long as 3-6 months for the ejaculate to return to normal after the recovery period is over. Certain drugs also affect sperm production.

* SIZE—In general, large dogs produce more sperm than small dogs. Toy breed dogs often must have semen collected several times to store enough to breed one bitch, whereas a giant breed stud might produce enough semen in one ejaculate to inseminate 3-5 bitches. Remember that it is number of sperm cells, not volume, that is important.

* DISPOSITION/ TEMPERAMENT—In general, an experienced stud dog produces better quality semen than one who doesn’t fully understand what is expected of him. In addition, a dog that is accustomed to having people around and/or being handled while breeding will perform better when have semen collected.

Is it worthwhile to attempt semen freezing with an unproven stud? an older dog? an ill dog?

If a dog is producing motile sperm cells, it is useful to attempt to freeze his semen. Generally, if semen numbers and/or quality are compromised, only a small quantity of viable sperm cells will be stored. While this will give you an “insurance policy” bank of semen, every attempt should be made to improve semen quality and freeze subsequent collections.

What is the current cost?

First Visit Consultation  $ 55.00
Semen Freezing  $165.00

The first visit consultation fee is charged even if a collection is attempted but semen is not obtained. In addition, if a sperm sample is put through the freezing process, the semen freezing fee is charged regardless of the quantity of straws obtained or their post-thaw quality. For future semen freezing from the same dog at the same freezing center, the first visit consultation fee is not charged, provided a sample for freezing is obtained at the subsequent visit(s). What are storage fees?

The first year's storage is included in the freezing fees. After one year, semen storage will be billed to you directly by ICG, depending on the amount of semen stored. Currently, this charge is:
- $35.00 for the first 25 straws
- $1.00 for each additional straw

What kind of paperwork and record keeping is necessary?

The American Kennel Club has examined and found ICG's record keeping practices to be in compliance with AKC regulations on semen freezing and storage. You will need to bring a copy of the stud's individual AKC registration papers to the appointment, as well as full color front and side view photographs of the dog. The stud owner's (or his agent's) signature must be obtained on the Semen Collection Record that ICG will file with the AKC. After the semen is frozen you will receive a copy of this form, as well as a written evaluation of the semen stored.

What is the success rate with frozen semen?

ICG's canine frozen semen systems have produced a conception rate of 73% in kennel trials, using vaginal inseminations, accurate ovulation timing and proper insemination techniques. With intrauterine insemination, a conception rate of 80-90% may be expected.

AKC JUDGE DISCOVERS SPEED OF NATIONAL DOG REGISTRY (NDR)

Susan Moore, an Arizona authorized tattooer for National Dog Registry, recently experienced the joy of seeing one of her subjects returned safely to its owner.

Lisa Cambell of Scottsdale spotted a dog running loose in the desert. Although Lisa is a dog fancier she could not identify the breed. The dog had no collar or rags but Lisa discovered a series of numbers on the inside thigh. The next morning Lisa brought the dog to her veterinarian at the Sundown Animal Clinic in Scottsdale to see if they could tell her the breed of dog and what the numbers meant.

Seven minutes after the Sundown Clinic called NDR's toll free number, 1-800-NDR-DOGS, Lila Wadsworth the original Breeder/Owner of the Afghan was reached by NDR. Lila a 30+ year veteran Afghan breeder and AKC judge makes it a rule to have all her dogs tattooed and registered with National Dog Registry.

Taralee, the Afghan, has been tattooed as a puppy before she was sold to Ann and Gary Argue. A house guest of the Argue's had accidentally left a door open and Taralee along with another Afghan had bounded out. The Argues were devastated. Thanks to an NDR registered tattoo, the Argues and Taralee were fully reunited after being called by Lila Wadsworth.

"Only one who has lost a dog can understand how we feel," said Mrs. Argue. "We were just delighted and so very thankful that Taralee was tattooed."

Through the use of a registered tattoo the NDR has reunited many thousands of missing pets with their grieving owners over the past 23 years.

Special awards will be given to Lisa Cambell and the Sundown Animal Clinic for their caring efforts in helping get Taralee safe and a Certificate of Professional Excellence will be issued to Susan Moore Authorized tattooer for National Dog Registry.

LOST, AND FOUND!

When Sandra L. let her 18-month-old collie, Ginger, outdoors one morning, she thought nothing of it. Ginger was a watchdog, trained to stay close to home. But 10 minutes later, when she glanced out the window to check, the dog was nowhere to be seen. Running outside, Sandra called and called. No luck.

Sandra returned home distraught. Ginger was her dog, really—a birthday present—but her children adored the big collie. She dreaded the thought of telling them.

Then, scarcely an hour later, she got a call from the National Dog Registry (NDR): Ginger has been found! Sandra had had the dog tattooed and then registered with NDR; now that precaution had paid off.

Ginger is just one of hundreds of lost or stolen dogs that NDR, the nation's largest dog registry, finds every month. Collars and tags can be removed, but a properly applied tattoo cannot. Founded in 1966, NDR now keeps computerized track of some 3 million dogs across the country. It recommends authorized tattooers nationwide, who will apply a permanent ID number to a pet's inner right thigh—a painless procedure—for about $5 to $15. For a lifetime fee of $35, NDR will register an unlimited number of pets per owner, provided they have been tattooed. For more information, write to National Dog Registry, P.O. Box 116, Woodstock, NY 12498; or call, toll-free, 1-800-NDR-DOGS.
DID YOU KNOW....?

Fact: 1 out of every 5 dogs will become lost or stolen this year.

Fact: Show and breeding quality dogs, dogs kept indoors, in locked yards or walked on leashes are most susceptible to lose.

Fact: Over 21.5 million animals will be put to death in shelters this year. Many of these are loved family pets who, without any permanent, traceable identity, could not be returned to their grieving families.

Fact: Pet theft is a multi-million dollar enterprise that afflicts every community - when thieves are caught, kennel club papers and even photographs are not positive proof of a dog’s identity or ownership.

Fact: Stolen pets are in most cases immediately ferried across state lines to avoid detection and tracking.

YOUR CLUB SHOULD KNOW.....

- National Dog Registry currently protects well over 3 million show dogs, mixed breeds, cats, and other animals across North America.

- Any dog can be protected for life by a simple, inexpensive painless, 90 second procedure.

- NDR maintains a 24 hour, 365 day a year toll free hotline for pet recovery and missing animal counseling, and has a recovery rate better than 95%.

- NDR is used and endorsed by almost every major animal organization in the country, including the Doris Day Animal League, The ASPCA, AKC, American Association for Laboratory Animal Science, and many, many others.

- Research laboratories across the country will not use a tattooed animal! They call NDR immediately so it can be returned home.

- NDR works closely with kennel clubs animal control officers, shelters, humane societies, breed rescue groups and police in every state and Canada.

- An ADR registered tattoo or microchip implant provides documented, indisputable proof of identity and ownership.

In the time it took you to read this information, over 30 dogs died in shelter and pund euthanasia programs, and countless others were stolen. Don’t wait until it’s too late! Shouldn’t your club or organization provide its members with the safety and protection of an NDR affiliation? Call 1-800-NDR-DOGS today for information about National Dog Registry services and group discount programs.

AKC NEWS RELEASE

JAPAN KENNEL CLUB ADDED TO AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB’S PRIMARY LIST OF FOREIGN DOG REGISTRY ORGANIZATIONS.

Public Education Coordinators Contribute Poster Contest for National Pet Week

During their April meeting, the Board of Directors of the American Kennel Club approved the addition of the Japan Kennel Club to the AKC’s Primary List of Foreign Dog Registry Organizations. This will permit dogs registered with the Japan Kennel Club that are imported into the United States, to be eligible for AKC registration in accordance with the rules and regulations applying to the registration of imported dogs. Individuals (and dogs) suspended prior to the recognition of the Japan Kennel Club will continue to be suspended.

The Japan Kennel Club, established in 1948, is the sole non-profit organization authorized by the Government of Japan as a canine corporation for all-breeds. It is a member of the Federation Cynologique International (FCI) and the Asia Kennel Union (AKU).

The Japan Kennel Club registers more than 250,000 dogs annually which makes it Japan’s principal registry and the second largest registry in the world (second only to the American Kennel Club). The Club also holds approximately 500 dog events annually throughout Japan, several of which are internationals shows, and issues several different championship titles.

The governing body for over 950 local member clubs and approximately 100,000 individual members, the Japan Kennel Club’s headquarters are located in Tokyo at 1-5, Kanda-Suda-Cho, Chiyoda-Ku, Tokyo, 101, Japan.

For further information on the registration of dogs imported from Japan, please write to the American Kennel Club, 5580 Centerview Drive, Suite 200, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27606-3390, Attention: Foreign Registrations.

The twelfth annual National Pet Week, sponsored by the American Veterinary Medical Association, the Auxiliary to the AVMA and the American Animal Hospital Association will be held May 3-9, 1992. Its purpose is to promote responsible pet ownership, increase awareness of veterinary medical services and celebrate the contributions made by pets to the physical and emotional well-being of their owners.

During past years, The American Kennel Club has encouraged local clubs to become involved in National Pet Week through such activities as Canine Good Citizen Tests, tattoo clinics, school presentations and obedience demonstrations. But in 1992, thanks to the new Public Education Coordinator program, local clubs all have a single focus—they are bringing the message of responsible dog ownership to the youngest generation of pet lovers.

Public Education Coordinators have introduced The American Kennel Club’s Poster Contest in grades 1-4 of public schools in their communities throughout the nation. The theme is "Every Dog Deserves..." a topic which should stimulate children to think about veterinary care, good nutrition, loving attention, safe confinement and a clean, comfortable place to sleep.

Poster contest winners will receive prizes in their own community and first through third place winners from each school will be forwarded to New York where judges from the American Kennel Club will select those which will appear on the AKC’s 1993 Calendar.

Pat Keen

My earliest memories of Intrepid were as a gangling refined seven month youngster with a very incorrigible disposition. Sure to be noticed first, he kept pushing all the adult Lhasas away from the gate in the kitchen of Dr and Marge Long's home.

We were visiting, Westminster weekend with Joan and Jean Blythe, who came to admire his sire, BIS Windsong Gusto of Innsbrook. Try as he might, he did everything in his small power to prevent anyone paying any attention to anyone but him. He was a charmer, a bit of the devil in character, but possessed a warm sweet expression. I know Jean was taken back by Intrepid and Joan felt there was a great potential in him. I don't think anyone realized then that someday his impact on the breed around the world would be so great.

I always thought looking back now, that Intrepid resembled his mother, Ch Orlane's Brandywine in looks. She remains today to be one of my all time favorite bitches. She was a BIS Barcon's the Avenger daughter. Her sire was also one of my favorites. This combination of type, structure, and a sweet loving disposition was destined to produce an "Intrepid". I knew after a very long weekend in New York and Jean's obvious interest in the Orlane's dogs, she was hopelessly hooked. All these glamorous, showy, American Lhasas made their mark, but I never dreamed that Intrepid would be the dog that would eventually go to England to Saxonsprings Kennel to challenge the English Lhasa world. He indeed did. His distinct color and style and his high kick up behind had never been witnessed in England.

His asset as a producer bred to old English bloodlines made him a very dominant sire. He did obtain his BIS English Champion title very readily, but his true value was his producing ability. His puppies were gaining a lot of notoriety here in America. His most famous get in England were BIS Saxonsprings Fresno, BIS Saxonsprings Hackensack, and BIS Saxonsprings Cascade.

BIS Ch Saxonsprings Fresno, an Intrepid son

Fresno was top dog all breeds. A first for Lhasas in England ever but ultimately going BIS at Crufts was an Intrepid son Ch Saxonsprings Hackensack. For Jean that is still the most memorable moment she can recall.

Suddenly, Lhasa began to take on the Intrepid look in England for good or bad. Jean’s dream of the lovely upright, bright, flowing Lhasas was becoming a reality. Many of his children and grand children sharing the Saxonspring’s prefix, began to enjoy successful show careers throughout Europe. Another of his sons BIS Ch Saxonsprings Alamo had the distinction of being one of the most titled Lhasas. This was also Intrepid’s first English champion.
He later was awarded his American championship. BOB at Westminster, BIS Ch Remarc's Ruffian, was also an English and American BIS winner.

Intrepid grandson, through Hackensack, BIS Ch Saxongsprings Fol De Rol and his littermate Saxonsprings Famous Flyer went on to be famous on the Continent. Fol De Rol was top dog in Belgium and Sweden and Famous Flyer top dog in Denmark. Several of Intrepid's get were imported into Spain for Her Royal Highness, Queen of Spain to be the foundation of her famous Lhasa kennel, which is still well respected on the European continent today.

In the late 70's, Intrepid was returned to Joan to complete his Am Champion title. He did this by going BOB at the ALAC National Specialty from the Bred by Exhibitor class. Intrepid was an exceptionally slow maturing dog, who was campaigning to a very successful career by his breeder Joan Kendall for his American admirer and owner Jane Browning and English owner Jean Blythe. This afforded Intrepid many group wins and two National Specialty wins and All Breed Best in Shows.

As Intrepid matured and improved, he never lost his bright gold color and that warm sweet expression that is so dominant through his children.

In 1981, Intrepid was returned to England for retirement. He lived out his life in the kitchen of Jean Blythe overlooking his children and grand children.

In 1987, we had the privilege of making the trip to England to attend the Crufts show to cheer on BIS Orlane's Luck Be a Lady, an Intrepid grand daughter. Lucy having been born and co-bred by us in California, made the trip more appealing. We were very excited to visit Jean in her cottage and once again see Intrepid. One of the most memorable things for us was the beautiful painting of Intrepid, Hackensack and Fresno hanging in Jean's house. At age eleven, Intrepid was in the most beautiful condition, fat and happily playing with his children and grand children romping through the garden. Our last glimpse of him was standing at the garden gate, seeing us off, tail wagging all the time. He never knew a stranger.

He readily became an ROM sire in America siring some of the most beautiful bitches particularly that come to mind. Some of our most favorite Intrepid kids were products of line breeding to the pure Hamilton lines. This led me to the opportunity of breeding to Intrepid giving me Sho Tru Kiss My Grits, the mother of BISS Sho Tru Hylan Stetson, Ch Sho Tru Hylan Tak M By Storm, Ch Sho Tru Hylan Rocks Ann, Ch Sho Tru Hylan Rockin Robin, Ch Sho Tru Hylan Rock A Bye Baby and Ch Sho Tru Hylan Image of Ta Sen. Intrepid can be traced closely to most of our winners today. I have always been grateful for the opportunity to use him before he left the country.

In May 1992, Intrepid peacefully passed away in his basket in the kitchen of his owner Jean Blythe's cottage.

The news was very sad, Intrepid's impact on the Lhasas throughout the entire world has become legend, and as we all know, legends never really die.
Jean had the distinct pleasure of handling Intrepid to his English Championship title. He had the distinction of becoming an All Breed Best In Show Winner. Also he was awarded Best In Show at the Inaugural Challenge of Champions defeating many notable English Best In Show winners All Breed. Pictured above with Jean is an Intrepid son BIS Champion Saxonsprings Hackensack.

Ch Orlane’s Intrepid was Best in Specialty while his daughter Ch Marquis Krispy Kritter was Best in Sweepstakes at the Greater Detroit Lhasa Apso Specialty.

My sympathy goes out to Jean Blythe and Joan Kendall with the passing of Danny. Danny will always remain the great legend of Lhasas in my heart.
