CH. Tiblaterr's Ty Breaker

We decided to embark upon a “special’s campaign” with “Chu” for two reasons important to our breed. In part, we felt that many judges lacked understanding about breed type. Most of this breed’s Top Winners in recent years have been “square”, constructed like a Tibetan Terrier both standing and in motion. The other important reason is coat, both texture and color. Most of the white, cream, and gold dogs have incorrect texture...soft, wooly, etc. This type of coat is often temporarily enhanced by grooming products and techniques.

We did not think it possible any longer for a dog with proper proportion, balance, coat texture, and movement to prevail in the show ring. Much to my surprise, I was proven wrong.

Chu won 12 Specialties within 19 months and was the 1994 BOB Winner at Westminster KC, the first owner-handled Lhasa to accomplish this in 13 years. Our appreciation to the judges who know this breed, and reward the dogs that are healthy for its survival.

Our love and gratitude to the following people for being our support team during Chu’s campaign: Larry, Lynda, Dawn and Danielle at home. Bob, Jan, Luke, Diane, Jeff, Curt, Bruce, Doug, Kathy, Marilyn, and Catherine on the road.

Chu is enjoying semi-retirement in Brazil, visiting girlfriends with the Pompeu’s at Raffles Lhasa Apsos.

Chu will be shown occasionally at Specialties.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear ALAC Member:

I'm not sure of the timing, but I believe that you will be receiving this bulletin just about at National Specialty time. I'm hoping that it will be successful with a huge entry and every person a happy winner. No one is ever a looser at the national, as being there and participating is what it is all about.

Our last Bulletin has lots of correspondence related to an article that was written by an ALAC member. Personally, I thought that his article was well written and expressed the author's thoughts; what more is required?

I believe that the time is here for us to intelligently and unselfishly look at our standard and say: "Is this enough or do we need to clarify and be more specific in describing our breed." Perhaps if our standard were less vague, we could all learn to live with certain descriptions and characteristics that we suppose now. Something to think about.

We need more communication between members about our standard. I can remember about twenty years ago when we met in New York City and had a seminar about the standard. Also, a time close to ten years ago that we had a great meeting at (I think) a National or Regional and the thoughts and opinions varied, but everyone got along and no one felt threatened. I'm also concerned about the talk I hear about "pure" bloodlines that is filtering about. As far as I'm concerned any Lhasa that's registered with the AKC and can enter at a dog show is pure. We need to open dialogue amongst all members and become a strong unified parent club. I thought we were headed that way, but maybe I had my head in the clouds.

Until next time,

Stephen G. C. Campbell, President

FROM THE SECRETARY

Dear ALAC Member:

Following are the minutes from the February 11, 1995 Board Meeting held in New York.

AMERICAN LHASAPSO CLUB
Meeting of the Board
February 11, 1995
New York, NY

The meeting was called to order at 4:54pm by President Stephen Campbell. In attendance: Amy Andrews, Larry Bruton, Cindy Butsic, Stephen Campbell, Beverly Drake, Susan Giles, Ann Lanterman, Nancy Plunkett, Ray Sledzik. Guests: Ida Watts.

There were no amendments to the agenda.

President's report, Stephen Campbell. Steve informed the Board he was not running for office again due to work constraints and his activity on the show committee. He thanked those who made the effort to attend the Board meeting.

The following AKC correspondence was received:
1. a Public Relations committee description as recommended by AKC. The need for an ALAC Public Relations committee was brought up by Ray. Nancy said she had thought the same and had already composed an outline. The issue was added to New Business.
2. AKC statement declining to match donated funds to the Canine Defense Fund, noting they plan to review matching fund programs in the future.
3. AKC's recommendation parent clubs hold sanctioned breed study groups at their national specialties.
4. National Specialty date request.

Additional correspondence presented:
1. a flyer and business card from an ALAC member who is also a professional photographer interested in shooting at the National.
2. A letter from Kathy Fallon representing the Delaware Valley LAC. The Club has dissolved and sent the balance of their treasury, $810.33, as a donation to the Breed Rescue committee. Steve noted how grateful we are for the donation.

Please remember to contact Amy Andrews if you have not received a bulletin issue. Amy receives extra copies for special distribution.

Remember too, that change of address should be sent to Stephen Campbell who maintains the current address list used for all official ALAC mailings, including the Bulletin.

This issue contains a Letters to the Editor section where correspondence received in response to the article "A Measure of Good Sense" appears. These letters were received after the deadline and could not be included in the last issue.

The first notice for ALAC Dues has been mailed. Don't put it aside and forget it; do mail Carolyn a check now!

Secretary's Report, Amy Andrews. AKC correspondence was turned over to Ray Sledzik for his report. Amy reported several members responded quickly to her call for AKC breeder referral volunteers. The questionnaires for referral contacts will be mailed the beginning of February to regional club secretaries as well as to individual members in areas not covered by a regional club. Copies of these forms were distributed to the Board members for comment. Those clubs not receiving one will be asked in the Bulletin column to contact the secretary immediately. Copies of the new detailed application for individual general members was distributed to the Board members present for review. The Board was instructed to contact the Secretary with comments. Minutes from the June 94 Board and Annual meetings are published in the Feb/March issue of the Bulletin and will be mailed to the general membership the end of this month. An invitation was printed at the end of the minutes and in the Secretary's column to any member interested in reviewing any submitted committee report in entirety. They need only contact the Secretary for a copy. Motions by mail - only one: Nancy Plunkett moved and Amy Andrews seconded the proposed addition to the Bulletin format by including committee reports in each issue as requested by Marianne Nixon. Any comments will be forwarded to Marianne Nixon. 11 yes, 0 no, 3 non-votes. Motion carried.

Correspondence:
1. letter from Pet Goods offering a discount on their discontinued Lhasa Apso items
2. a description and application to American Breeders Registration Foundation
3. a letter from Digital Productions Incorporated requesting info on the Lhasa Apso
4. an outline of purpose and show procedure from the World Wide Kennel Club, including scale of points and show schedule
5. newsletters from Paws With A Cause
6. assorted regional club newsletters.

Treasurers report, submitted by Carolyn Herbel. Carolyn noted with regret her inability to attend. The 9-1-94 through 2-1-95 financial report was read by the president. The starting checkbook balance was $15758.47. Receipts totalled $14282.72 and the expenses totalled $9968.75 leaving a checkbook balance of $20072.44 with committed funds to the Futurity, Trophy, Rescue, and Benetez/Wilks committees in the amount of $5484.15 which leaves $14588.29 in the general fund. Amy moved and Nancy seconded the treasurer's report be accepted as read.

AKC Delegate, Ray Sledzik. Ray is serving on the judges committee. One of the issues at hand is an increase in the show lunch break from 30 to 45 minutes. Some responses to the Time Magazine article were available for review by those present. Back-to-back shows (the same weekend) for all breed clubs have been cleared. PC format for club correspondence with AKC is becoming more of a reality. AKC is moving toward having National Specialty and local specialty clubs applying for shows three (3) years in advance.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

AKC Gazette columnist. Cassandra de la Rosa submitted a written report to the president. Column length has been cut from 1000 to 800 words. She invited guest columnists to submit articles to her or contact her with questions.

By-Laws. Don Evans sent the president a complete revised copy. He sent the last draft to AKC for evaluation before preparing it for review by the general membership. Staggered terms for the Directors will be kept. Susan moved and Ray seconded the Board members review the by-laws and return to Don Evans by March 15, 1995 and Don is to then return to the Board all corrections and revisions by April 30, 1995. Motion passed. Vote approval of the final copy will be done by the June 95 Board meeting.

Bulletin. Susan Giles read an outline of a financial report concluding the bulletin was $82.00 over budget based on the income, for the past six (6) months. Susan indicated the Bulletin is operating well under a $700 Board approved debit allowance. The Bulletin is to remain on the current schedule, every two months. The Board asked for the job...

description of Karen Green, managing editor. Susan said she had no tasks to date and agreed to avoid further confusion among the general membership, to drop the title after her name and include her phone number for those members needing to contact her. It was concluded that Susan is the chairman the Bulletin. Amy was instructed by the board to write a letter to the Editors/chairman, encouraging them to keep the Board apprised of upcoming needs in order to continue in its current capacity.

Breed Standard, no report.

Breed Rescue. Mary Schroeder submitted a detailed report directly to Steve who provided copies to those present. Board members were encouraged to contact Mary directly with comments or questions. Ray moved and Ann seconded Michael Santora mail copies of the Rescue Committee report (pages one through five) to the regional club secretaries. Motion passed.

Code of Ethics. Cindy Butsic distributed samples of a generic sales contract to be made available to the membership free of charge. She was also given additional samples by other Board members. Using the samples, she will compile a final version for publication in the Bulletin along with an article of explanation and promotion.

Futurity Secretary. Ann Lanterman distributed her report and it was reviewed. Figures are up from last year! She stated her continuing desire that the regional locations be laid out eighteen (18) months in advance and her concern that this had not been completed to date. Amy was instructed to write a letter to the Futurity Host Chair asking for a report to the Board for 1996.

Futurity Host Coordinator. Denise Olejniczak's report was distributed in the preliminary board package at the Board meeting. This information has been published in the Bulletin.

Handbook. Jenny Drastura contacted Steve by phone prior to the meeting. She is awaiting the changes of committee chairs. Amy mentioned Jenny had contacted her as well, telling her she would probably be redoing the entire Handbook (which will be easier) rather than trying to work around the few unaltered pages not changed by the revisions. She will also need to reorder handbook covers.

Historian, Becki Johnson. Becki noted "no report".

Health/Education, no report.

Local Club Liaison. Steve read a letter from chair Mike Santora dated November 23, 1994. Mike stated he would like to see more communication to him from the regional clubs. He again stated he is having difficulty conveying to some regional clubs that the ALAC BOW plaque is available only ONCE (1) per year.

Measurement Certification Program. Nancy Plunkett's report was distributed in the preliminary board package and reviewed at the Board meeting. In addition to the 1994 statistics, Nancy reiterated the need for additional measurers. She plans to have a meeting at the National Specialty offering training for potential measurers interested in participating in the program.

Membership. Joyce Johanson's report was distributed in the preliminary board package and reviewed at the Board meeting. The Board reviewed the procedure for reinstatement of members following the December 1 grace period. According to the February 12, 1994 Board meeting minutes under Treasurer's Report, "Carolyn wants included in the next dues notice a notation stating 'If dues are not received by December 1st, your name will be removed from the roster and mailing list'."

The Secretary was instructed to inform the Treasurer that, with the receipt of any dues...

payments sent to the Treasurer AFTER December 1st, the Treasurer submit the name/address/phone of the tardy member to the Membership Chairman who will treat the applicant(s) as new members (except for sending the Handbook). She will be the one who will inform the Roster Chair of their addition (or "reinstatement") to the membership list, not the Treasurer.

Obedience. A letter from Deanna Maxwell to Steve was distributed in the preliminary board package and reviewed at the Board meeting. Most of the information pertained to Show Committee business but she did state she anticipated a large obedience entry at the 1995 National.

Roster. Steve Campbell reported Carmen Spears has expressed interest in taking over this committee. She will see if her computer set up is compatible with the program used. In the meantime, Steve will continue in that capacity.

Yearbook Distribution, no report.

Yearbook Editor. Amy Andrews' report was distributed in the preliminary board package and reviewed at the Board meeting. The fees will be $60 per page for a single page, $45 for an identical page of the same dog, $50 each for two or more different dogs. Prepurchase discounts will be available only to advertisers for $5 off for each page of advertising and those submitting three or more pages will get theirs for free. It will debut at the 1995 National Specialty as usual. Those advertisers not attending must pay $3.50 shipping for postage/mailer. The applications will be mailed the end of February 95 and the deadline is April 1st.

Yearbook Promotion, no report.

Show Committee, Steve Campbell. A report was read by the Chair. Several points were highlighted: The next meeting of the show committee will be tomorrow. Our 1995 Specialty will be June 14-16th at Holiday Inn in Cleveland. AKC has approved our application for the 1995 specialty. The judges have signed their contracts and there is a need for one more obedience team judge. The premailer has been prepared and will be enclosed in the next Bulletin. A preliminary budget was presented. We anticipate a profit at our 1995 National.

The 1996 show will be at the Boxborough Host Hotel in Boxborough, Massachusetts, about thirty miles northwest of Boston, June 17th-21st. Merrimack LAC will have their independent specialty June 15-16th at the same location. Our judge for 1996 is Barbara Alderman. The preliminary ballot for the 1997 judge is being prepared and the process should be completed by June 1995. The financial report for 1994 revealed a $500-600 loss but $689.00 were one time expenses which will not be repeated. Also, it was recommended by the Show Chair that distributions to the Benitez/Wilks funds and Breed Rescue be determined by the Board after the finances are completed in conjunction with the National. Ray moved and Steve seconded the fee ceiling for ALAC Specialty judges be raised from $1000 to $1200 commencing with 1997. Roll call vote called:

Amy Andrews yes Beverly Drake yes
Nancy Plunkett yes Larry Braton yes
Susan Giles yes Ray Sledzik yes
Cindy Butsic yes Ann Lanterman yes
Steve Campbell yes

Motion passed.

Ray expressed a concern with the current balloting procedure. If there are ten persons running then rarely has the judge selected received the majority. There was also some concern expressed about judges possibly declining an invitation to judge the National under the current fee ceiling. Ray felt the selection of the Specialty judge should be more representative of a majority of ALAC members voting and prompted the following motion. Ray moved and Amy seconded a change in the

Minutes Cont'd...
National Specialty judge voting system to include a last balloting run off between the first two judges available out of the ten finalists, commencing with the 1998 judge selection. That is, after the usual two ballotings we now have, there will be a third balloting between the first two available judges receiving the highest number of votes. There were those in the group who felt this final balloting would be more representative of the membership as there would be a run-off of two available judges and it would require a majority of the membership voting to select the judge. Some Board members felt this type of system would decrease the influence of "bullet voting", where a group of members pool their votes for one judge candidate leaving the others in a gross minority. The opposers felt the raising of the fee ceiling would eliminate a substantial reason for a third balloting, making it uncalled for. Still others felt the third balloting was not cost effective and that bullet voting would be only less influential, not eliminated. Roll call vote called:

OLD BUSINESS

The signed report of the 1995 Nominating Committee report was distributed by the Secretary. Chairman Richard Camacho and members Margaret Evans and Linda Tackett presented the following slate:

- President: Larry Bruton (OR)
- Vice President: Susan Giles (VA)
- Secretary: Amy Andrews (MI)
- Treasurer: Carolyn Herbel (OK)
- AKC Delegate: E. Raymond Sledzik (VA)

Board of Directors:

- Cindy Butsic (MI)
- Beverly Drake (MD)
- Joyce Johanson (IL)
- Denise Olejniczak (MI)
- William Russett (OH).

Ex-officio will automatically be Stephen Campbell (NJ).

NEW BUSINESS

A permanent board meeting location was discussed. Nancy felt alternating the Board meetings opposite the locale of the Annual Board meeting at the National was in the best interests of the Board members. Steve stated this idea should be recorded as a recommendation to next year's Board, the location (city) and month to be decided at the National.

New Committee Chairpersons. Bev moved and Susan seconded that Bobbie Wood be approved as Awards Chair. Motion passed.

Amy moved and Susan seconded that William Russett be approved as Chair of the Finance committee. Motion passed.

Susan moved and Ray seconded that Pat Hufnail be re instituted as Ways and Means Chair. Motion passed.

Ray moved and Ann seconded that Cindy Butsic be approved as Futurity Promotion chair. Motion passed.

Susan moved and Amy seconded that Joan Dudman be approved as Membership Promotion chair. Motion passed.

Steve was in receipt of a detailed resume from Jan Graunke offering her services to ALAC in a financial capacity. Susan felt she would be an asset to the Bulletin and was given the resume for reference.

Nancy outlined her ideas and incentives for the new ALAC Public Relations Committee, including ALAC's need to have such a committee. Amy moved and Susan seconded Nancy coordinate with the president after completing the job description for the new Public Relations committee. Motion passed. Nancy will review the final outline with Cherlynn Jozwick who has expressed an interest in serving on such a committee.

Steve noted his concern regarding the long period of time it has been taking for the minutes to be...
Minutes Cont’d...

to get to the membership. Susan moved and Ray seconded the institution of standing rule #95-2 stating the Secretary shall mail the first draft of the Board/General meeting minutes to the Board fourteen (14) days after said meeting, giving the Board members thirty (30) days to respond with comments/questions. The secretary shall immediately compile and mail the final corrected copy of the minutes to the Board, allowing fourteen (14) days for a vote for final approval. The final approved minutes will then be published in the next available issue of the Bulletin and be mailed to the general membership under separate cover. Motion to establish standing rule #95-2 passed.

A formal complaint has been filed by Carole Walsh against Scott Donlevy. Amy moved and Nancy seconded ALAC take jurisdiction based on the possible/alleged neglect of the puppy involved by Scott Donlevy, stating that neglect is conduct prejudicial to the breed. Ray reviewed the by-laws, outlined all of the club’s options, and stated the legalities based on the paperwork submitted by Carole Walsh. A roll call vote was called:

Amy Andrews  yes Beverly Drake  yes
Nancy Plunkett  yes Larry Bruton  yes
Susan Giles  abstain Ray Sledzik  yes
Cindy Butsic  yes Ann Lanterman  yes
Steve Campbell  abstain

Motion passed.

The Board wanted to state for the record that the taking of jurisdiction is NOT a decision of guilt or innocence but merely the procedure necessary to allow Scott Donlevy to state his side of the story. A committee of Joyce Johanson, Carolyn Herbel, and Cindy Butsic was formed to preside over the hearing. Alternates selected were Nancy Plunkett and Steve Campbell.

As chairman of the Ethics committee, Cindy Butsic will chair the hearing.

Cindy Butsic expressed some concern about a potential conflict between the Lhasa Apso Reporter and the ALAC Bulletin. Some discussion ensued. No action was taken at this time. Motion for adjournment was made at 9:40pm.

Respectfully submitted,

Amy J. Andrews, Secretary

BREED RESCUE

Mary Schroeder. First & foremost we (ALAC) would like to apologize to ALAC’s new Rescue Chair for noting “No report submitted” by the Rescue Chair. Due to an oversight the Chair did not receive confirmation of her position until May.

This write up is being submitted by Charlene Dellinger, President of the Lhasa Apso Club of Central Colorado in acknowledgement of the great rescue work being done in Colorado by ALAC’s Rescue Chair.

A special event was organized and held at the LAC of CC Spring Specialty in April by Mary Schroeder.

The Club hosted a parade of Rescue Lhasas. The Colorado Club has been sponsoring Lhasa rescue for the past seven years. During the last three years Mary Schroeder, Club Vice-President and head of rescue, has placed a total of 75 Lhasas into loving, caring homes.

This spring the club invited a few of these rescuers to join us and show off their Lhasas. This event proved to be very heart warming and a real "tear jerker". Steve Cunningham, club member, read the comments made by the rescuers describing perfectly all the characteristics we so dearly love about our Lhasas. "Smart & spoiled"; "Beautiful, a character & affectionate"; "Chelsea has learned to fetch & point from our German Shorthair."; "Very loving, good natured companion"; "She likes to eat carrots & other vegetables"; "He has brought so much joy and laughter into our home."; "She scores above a 9 on the cuteness factor scale, She has become a big part of the family.".

Exhibitors and judges from Arizona, California, Colorado, Michigan, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas were very impressed by our Parade of Rescued Lhasas.

A very special "Thank you" goes out to all rescuers for your help in saving Lhasas and a big "Thank you" and "Hats off" to Mary for all her work in bring these rescuers and Lhasas together.

For information on Lhasa Rescue in Colorado contact Mary Schroeder at 303-973-3600.

The following two Lhasas are looking for new homes:
1 Male - 1-1/2 years "Curley-good with kids"
1 Female - 2 years "Not good w/kids.
2 Lhasas flew in from California on May 16 and need to be placed as a pair.

If anyone know of the ideal home for any of the above, contact Mary.

EDUCATION & HEALTH
Lynn Jamison. First the committee thanks everyone that participated in the second CGC test at the National Specialty. Recently there has been much ado about a new flea control product - PROGRAM a tablet to be given once a month to a dog. Program does not kill fleas or keep them off a dog. It acts by interfering with the reproduction of a female flea that has engorged on a blood meal from a dog taking Program. The lufenuron (active ingredient) keeps the eggs from the one flea from hatching - and the flea dies after laying its eggs. Program is not a substitute for good environmental flea control and hygiene. The product contains NO RECOMMENDATIONS as to its use in breeding stock and pregnancy. (Further testing would be necessary.) While Continued Program may turn out to be a good part of an overall flea control method the veterinarians that I have consulted with are not yet recommending it to breeders and have mixed opinions about its use in pets. I have received several inquiries about the product recently and wanted to share the information with you.

FINANCE

GRAND FUTURITY

Ann Lanterman. It has come to my attention that few people know the procedure for figuring the futurity prize money.

The $10.00 nomination fee goes into a pool in the region the nominating person resides. From every Regional Futurity entry fee, $5.00 also goes into the regional pool and the rest of the entry fee goes toward expenses.

Each litter nominated for the year is broken into age groups, 6-9, 9-12, 12-15, and 15 and up.

$5.00 from the entry fee goes into age group pools plus $10.00 from litter nominated in region, according to age and sex:

- 25% Total Regional Pool to ALAC
- 5% of ALL TOTAL Regional Pools to Grand Futurity
- 5% of Total Regional Pool to Best Puppy and Best Adult
- 30% of Regional Class Pool to First in Class
- 15% of Regional Class Pool to Second in Class
- 10% of Regional Class Pool to Third in Class
- 5% of Regional Class Pool to Fourth in Class

(Regional Pool is total amount of money from the nominated litters in the region plus the $5.00 entry fee divided into age and sex. Total Regional Pool is the total from the nominated litters in the region plus the $5.00 entry fee.)

Carolyn Herbel is not able to deposit Canadian checks or money orders in Putman, Oklahoma. Please send your fee for futurity nomination in US cash or checks on an American bank only.

Total entries received for 1996 is 55.

Please send me your input on Futurities in writing. I welcome hearing from you.

OBEDIENCE
Deanna Maxwell. At this writing the '95 National is only a month away. I hope your plans are made and I will see you in Cleveland. Our Obedience Judge is Linda MacDonald. Dennis Dostal will judge Team. We have one team but still looking for four members to form a second team. If you have an Open Dog and will be at the National Specialty let me know and sign up to be on the second team. Members of the Southern California Lhasa Apso Club have donated trophies for the Non-Regular Classes. You still need to donate to the obedience trophy fund. We have exciting new trophies this year. Don't forget to advertise your obedience Lhasa in the Catalog. I hope we all qualify this year but you can't qualify if you don't attend.

RAFFLE
Carolyn Herbel. Now is the time to plan for that special donation to ALAC's major money maker. The more personalized and original the prize the more tickets we sell and the more cards that are played. I know that many of our members are very talented artists. In the past the items donated by these gifted people are the most sought after. If we get enough of these original donations we plan some additional intriguing options to win these splendid items.

Please all you talented people, help make Raffle & Lhasa stakes so alluring that we fill the Club's coffers. Now is the time to plan that special offering.

ROSTER
Steve Campbell. The new Handbook is out. Please check your name, address, telephone number and kennel name. Let me know of any change. Remember, it is as of January 1, 1995, so you may have made a change, subsequent to that date, that I have on the computer, but was not available at the time of the printing of the Handbook.

SPECIALTY CHAIRMAN
Steve Campbell. We're all set for 1996. The dates are as follows: Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 19, 20 and 21, 1996. Our judge is Barbara Alderman and the show will be held at the Boxborough Host Hotel in Boxborough, Mass. It's a beautiful spot about 30 miles outside Boston in the country. It's perfectly set up for dogs, with an enormous site for the show and excellent facilities for meetings and banquet. The Merrimack Lhasa Apso Club will also be having a specialty in conjunction with ours.

1997 will be in the Seattle area and the judges selection is in the process now. As soon as we have a winner, we'll let you know. There is discussion about having the show on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. What are your thoughts?

would like to share the new meanings of Happiness & Love

Happiness is a Lhasa rescuer and his/her Lhasa.
Love is Lhasa Rescue.

The Lhasa Apso Rescue Network is at the starting gate. The goal of all rescue is to insure a good home to a dog that otherwise would be dead. That's putting it bluntly, but that's the way it is today. The pounds are so full and under funded they keep the dogs only a short time before euthanization. A pound in California neither feeds nor waters the dogs for the 72 hours they keep them.

ALAC is a large breed club with about 600 members. If each member breeds only 1 litter a year we are helping overpopulate the breed. A good many members breed more than 1 litter a year and the Lhasa Apso is now found in large numbers in the pound.

It's easy to blame backyard breeders and puppy mills but each time we breed a litter and each time our dog is used at outside stud WE are part of the problem. Let's be part of the solution too. Rescue is one way to pay back the breed for all the great things our dogs have done for us.

I enjoy playing with the puppies in any litter. I watch them grow -- pick out the show potential and sell the others to homes I think will be there for the life of the dog. We would never want that cute puppy to end up on death row, but how often does it happen? Every rescue dog potentially could be that cute puppy we sold to someone who was screened carefully and we thought would provide a good home.

Being part of the RESCUE NETWORK means you'll help keep your own dogs out of the pound. It means you'll make time to do a little extra driving, reading want-ads, working with new owners, or actually placing dogs.

The greatest reward is to see a dog you placed in an adoptive home, happy and healthy years later with their adoptive owners.

The LAC of CC had a parade of rescue dogs at it's last specialty. Everyone who saw the happy dogs bring their proud owners into the ring now understands how rewarding the rescue network can be. It was the real highlight of the entire show. Ask anyone who was there!

Please contact me if you can help. A packet of material will be available in the ALAC handbook.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editors' Note: The February-March Issue of the Bulletin carried an article by Jesse Warren entitled A Measure Of Good Sense. The April-May Issue published responses to this article written by Board and general ALAC membership. The letters that follow were received subsequent to the April-May Issue. We appreciate receiving them and feel it is appropriate for them to be included. Hopefully the debate will end with this issue.

Editors of ALAC Bulletin:

I am writing to respond to the recent flurry of comments to the article that appeared in the February-March issue of the Bulletin titled A MEASURE OF GOOD SENSE. The opinion expressed by one of our ALAC members seems to have created a storm of controversy.

So let's begin with setting the record on Lhasa size straight. The advertisement that I paid for in this issue is a copy of the advertisement placed by the Cuttings, owners of Hamilton Farms, in the 1956 Westminster KC catalogue. They clearly stated that they had Lhasas for sale whose height varied from 10 to 13 inches. The Cuttings were the importers of Lhasas from Tibet and the major owners and Lhasa exhibitors from the early 1930's until Mrs. Cutting's death in 1961. If they advertised Lhasas from 10 to 13 inches it is reasonable to surmise this was the accepted size range of the Lhasa Apso for the first twenty-five years of their presence in this country.

Our current standard was adopted in 1978. The size description in our standard states ABOUT 10 to 11 inches, with bitches slightly smaller. The problem for any Lhasa breeder, be they pure Hamilton breeders or breeders whose Lhasas were crossed with other bloodlines, is how do you breed out a size that is genetically in the Lhasa genes. If, as breeders, we all concentrate on is proper size, are we to do it at the risk of ignoring all the other important aspects of the breed such as balance, type, sound structure, coat texture or temperament?

The answer should be simple. We are breeders of a medium sized dog, not a Toy Breed. To constrict the Lhasa to a size variant of one inch is both ludicrous as well as genetically impossible. If we adhere to a one inch variant then every Lhasa below 10 inches or above 11 inches is confined to being sold as a pet, not a show dog. Along the way we will be sacrificing show quality Lhasas for mere size alone.

In an age of better nutrition and advanced medical science the trend in humans as well as animals is for size to increase. To confine ourselves to an ultra narrow size category for the Lhasa will eventually give us dogs that may always be the runts of their litter. For the serious Lhasa SHOW breeder, the overall quality of their dogs in terms of our standard should be uppermost in their breeding programs.

Now I come to the most essential point regarding this entire controversy over size. The serious Lhasa breeder is a breeder of LHASA SHOW DOGS. We are not breeding to sell pets to the general public. If that be the case our goal is to produce Lhasas that are going to win in a SHOW RING. This means that we breed to what is conceived to be the ideal type Lhasa. The only way to know we have produced a Lhasa that is close to the ideal is in open SHOW COMPETITION. To claim it is irrelevant what Judges think of our Lhasas is ridiculous. If the opinion of a Judge is irrelevant what are you doing as a breeder of SHOW DOGS?

If I am raising field trial dogs, obviously my dogs should perform best in the field. If I am raising obedience dogs they have to win at an obedience Trial. Well, we have no other way of winning in a dog show, sanctioned by the AKC, except under licensed AKC judges. What we as SHOW LHASA breeders should be concentrating on is bringing to these judges quality Lhasas that are sound and balanced dogs. Yes we should be trying to keep the size of our SHOW Lhasas about 10 to 11 inches. But is a 11-1/2 or even a 12 inch beautiful, sound, well tempered, typey Lhasa to be discarded? The truth of the matter is that in the SHOW ring, especially among the major LHASA GROUP winners over the past 20 years, the Lhasas that are over 11 inches have been the overwhelming winners of Groups.

Does it matter whether I have a Lhasa that can be a major Group or Best In Show winner? Absolutely, for how else but in competition with other breeds can we ever be certain we are producing Lhasas of SHOW QUALITY. When you are no longer concerned about having your dogs win at dog shows, or even wanting to have a multiple group or Best In Show dog, its time to give up being a SHOW breeder and confine yourself to producing Lhasa pets.

If all of us in ALAC will remember that we are in the LHASA SHOW game to improve the overall quality of our breed as show dogs and not become stuck on a position that insists on everyone conforming to our conception of what a Lhasa should be, we will be furthering the purpose for which a Specialty Club exists.

Respectfully submitted,
Kenneth Troy, Kenwood Lhasas

Dear Editor,

As one of the first people in the breed to propose a method of measuring our breed and of predicting the adult size of puppies, which I published over 15 years ago, I feel I have a special right to speak to the controversy sparked by Mr. Warren's article in the Bulletin.

It appears that Mr. Warren and others have misunderstood the purpose of measuring our dogs. In the propagation of a breed, we breeders must try to breed animals who conform to the standard. Moreover, we must try to eliminate health problems in our breeding. This is why we have OFA and CERF. These organizations provide assurance that the animals you put together are sound of hip and eye.

When I send my bitch to a dog I have not had my hands on, I want to know how big he is. Why? Because the standard states that the dog should be about 10 or 11 inches, and I do not want puppies who stray very far from "about 10 or 11 inches". However, there are many ways of measuring a dog.

As Shirley Rhodes pointed out, different ways of measuring may give different results. Therefore, a standard method of measurement will give me the assurance that the dog to whom my bitch is going is really the size he is purported to be. In addition, I would like to know how much he weighs. Mercifully there is only one way to weigh! I also want him CERF’d and OFA’d if possible.

It is hard to understand how some people can be opposed to the "measurement thing" which is offered only to those who want it, to people who wish the information for their own education, and to people who want to control size in their breeding program. No one is coerced to measure. Just as you are not required to CERF or OFA your dogs, you don’t have to measure them either.

Why do some people feel so uncomfortable, as the article and some of the letters indicate, with this service that ALAC provides to breeders? Shirley Rhodes indicates that some people have felt so uncomfortable they have "left the breed". Are they concerned that the club’s attention to measurement may influence judges to focus on correct size? The club does have an obligation and commitment to educate judges. Or perhaps they see measurement as part of a “conspiracy” to introduce a size disqualification? Surely everyone realizes that a change in the standard would be necessary in order to introduce a disqualification. We would have to remove the very important word “about” from the size. This could only happen if we all vote for it. Even if the club voted unanimously for a size disqualification, we probably wouldn’t get it because AKC does not like all the headaches involved. I would like to make one last point. While all people are entitled to their opinions, and are even entitled to a forum for those opinions, it is obvious that all opinions are not equally valid or well informed. I am entitled to believe that the earth is flat and even entitled to try to convince others, but not from the pages of the American Journal of Geology. The forum for differing opinions is usually found in the “letters to the editor” section of journals. The Bulletin has not provided this forum in the past because of cost constraints. However, with proper exercise of editorial discretion, it would not be too costly to print a few representative letters from both sides of current issues in order to better inform the readership. Such balanced journalism might have prevented the eruption of passionate print seen in the April-May issue.

Thank you for your attention. For those readers who would like my size prediction formulas, I even have a small Windows computer program to predict size. Everyone is welcome to a copy, just send me a disk and return postage. Tel. (201) 569-3071.

Sincerely,

Catherine Marley, MD

Dear Marianne:

Thank you very much for printing my article “A Measure of Good Sense” and for withstanding the controversy that followed.

It is important for me to inform you that in writing the article, I had no hidden agenda and intended no personal attack on any person or program. My intent was to relate not only my personal opinion, but that of many other people regarding the height question.

Since publication of the responses by members of the committee, it appears I was not alone or far off base. I have received many, many calls in support of my statements. I encouraged all of them to write to you. Recently I met a couple that was not in favor of the article and I encouraged them to write to you as well.

Attached is my response to those letters in the most recent Bulletin that I hope you will include in the next publication.

Before closing I again thank you for producing a quality publication, consistent with responsible journalism and a pleasure to read as well.

Sincerely,

Jesse F. Warren

The Lhasa Bulletin, Dear Fellow Members:

Before I forget, my name is Jesse F. Warren and I am the writer of this response and the author of “A Measure of Good Sense.”

A side issue causing controversy in my article was the mystery of why it was not credited to me. That’s easy; I sent it in with a signed cover letter but without my name typed somewhere in the article. The Bulletin should bear no responsibility for the inadvertent omission. Whatever points individuals are trying to make out of that are improperly laid and without justification.

I obviously found encouragement in the comments made by the ALAC President. Mr. Campbell is what you expect of a club president, no maybe I’m wrong, he is what you hope for as a club president. Putting aside any of his own comments or opinions, he has gone straight to the core of an issue larger than the size topic. That issue is whether any member is allowed to express opinions or ideas that may be contrary to those of certain other members or officers, free of castigation. I hope everyone compares his comments to those written by other board members. To minimize more bizarre responses to what was just stated, let me provide preventive clarification. I neither know nor have I ever met Mr. Campbell, I do not know his position on my article, nor do I need to know it. And lastly, my compliments go only to the fairness he has intended to apply to the otherwise disgraceful board response.

I commend the staff of the Bulletin for the courage to produce a “clean” publication, free of censorship. Some people may not realize the difficulty of applying professional journalism and ethics to specialty publications. This staff has exhibited extremely high standards and should be insulated against the selfish rage of those who vented it toward the Bulletin.

Members did send in favorable letters and I hope the pages surrounding this response show more of the same support. Through members like Cassandra de la Rosa, Sarah Fitzgerald, Shirley L. Rhodes and Pat Keen, we will be fortunate to remain more exposed to the truth than not. Particularly noticeable was how these people responded with words such as “productive discussion,” “open dialogue,” “more input,” and “healthy exchange of ideas.” They really understood my intent and whether they agreed with all of my statements or not, they at least considered them with some value attached.

Lastly I’ll address the letters of Carolyn Herbel, Lynette Clooney, Nancy Plunkett and Amy Andrews, three of whom are Board members and one who is also a judge. You’d expect fairness from this group, at worst maybe only from the judge, right? Wrong. Amy wrote me an equally despicable personal letter, very similar to what was published in the Bulletin. I wrote Amy back and thought I squared away at least my most serious personal flaws. I won’t go into them here but if any of the others in this group need clarification maybe Amy will send them a copy of my letter. The only concession to slander I’ll stoop to, is to stipulate to the accuracy of Amy’s ad on the back inside cover of the March/April Reporter where she states “…the OWNERS are 100% certifiable.” That’s quite an admission. What is important here is what all these people really have to say. Forget their personal attacks, slander, insults, etc., they are talking CENSORSHIP. Do not dare question what they say, do, or advocate. Do not oppose them, do not question them, just send your dues and shut up while they change things as they see fit. If you do say it and someone else repeats it (The Bulletin) then attack that vehicle along with the originator of the words. We elected these members … shame on us. We are represented by these people … shame on us. This is the image ALAC Board members projected to the purebred world … SHAME ON THEM!!!

They say they are angry about what I wrote and that confuses me. My article was prefaced as a nontechnical discussion and presented to the membership in non-aggressive format. The categorization which some felt claustrophobic over was only another way of saying some have dogs right on the height standard, others shorter than the standard, and the others taller than the standard. I never tried to defend any of the three, but merely to set the scene as it is so often played at ringside. For the life of me, I can’t see an offensive position as a result of that. Throughout my article I maintained a neutral viewpoint because I wasn’t favoring any position of the height discussion. My point being, I like them all and I favor fair judging selecting the winner of the day.

I was also misunderstood regarding my statements about letting judges do their jobs and distancing ourselves from the judging process. I am well aware where judges get their education. My point was, I have seen exhibitors approach judges after showing to find out why the judge picked a certain dog over theirs, and many times that exhibitor made reference to size. My opinion is, unless the judge mentioned something specific to the exhibitor which was unclear, the exhibitor should accept the judge’s decision and go on to the next show with dignity intact.

I did say and maintain the position today that I dislike special interest groups. If you want to certify a dog’s height then you better certify its character, body shape, coat, mouth, muzzle, head, eyes, ears, legs and tail at the same time because Lhasa Apsos are not disassembled. We don’t bring 10 or 11 inches to the ring for show without a dog “about” that size bearing a lot of other great features. Why does someone certify just height? It’s said, to educate me on how to take the measurements. If that’s so, why is the height recorded? I’ll remember it. In 1992, an article on the MCP said, (page 20) “Without a height disqualification in our breed . . .” I personally fear eventual height disqualification resulting from this group and so do others. I am not paranoid but I am wary. The tone and madness of responses along with attempts to hush discussions and threats to stop the Bulletin do little to allay my concern.

I can’t buy into the arguments of these four particular members because they have shown no intellectual substantiation. I originally believed they were well intentioned. Their replies not only negated that belief but exposed a flaw as blatant as the Challenger Space Shuttle seals. All four have shown character flaws unworthy of club leadership in a democratic society. They didn’t hint it, hide it or fake it. They spewed venom all over the Bulletin’s pages and onto the membership. I reject them, I renounce them and I won’t vote for them, ever. Maybe this is the answer and the tool to protect a free and open exchange of ideas in preservation of the Lhasa Apso.

In support of the First Amendment, Jesse F. Warren
Letters

Managing Editor, The Lhasa Bulletin:

The reaction to “A Measure of Good Sense” prompts me to provide you with my approach to acceptance of letters submitted for publication. As a former publisher/owner of a lifestyle magazine, I found the policy of accepting only letters that include the name, address and telephone number of the writer to be reasonable. The telephone number was used to verify the authenticity of the letter and not be published unless requested by the writer. No anonymous letters were printed.

I certainly know how print errors creep into final copy. As you well know, anxiety and restless nights are a fact of life as issues reach readers. THE LHASA BULLETIN is a professional publication and a credit to the organization.

I had the pleasure of meeting Nancy Plunkett several years ago at a Pittsburgh, PA dog show, long before I became a member. Now, as a member I am pleased to see her name among the leaders of ALAC. Her educational efforts can only be a positive contribution to the organization and to the breed.

Recent address changes have been faster than my updating your records so I have not had the opportunity to read this controversial letter. Enclosed is a check to cover postage if you still have copies, otherwise use it to further your good work.

Very truly yours,
James Beam

The ALAC Bulletin, Dear Marianne:

The Lhasa Apso Club of Greater New York would like to express our views, and give our support for an article which was most appropriate for our Bulletin and which was written by Jesse Warren, our Club Secretary.

LACOGNY members all feel that this article was well thought out and that the issues were well stated. Jesse Warren has taken the time to write this article, and we, as members of ALAC and as a lovers of the Lhasa Apso, should think in a calm, professional and adult manner. We must realize that we are all entitled to our opinions, and that a difference of opinion can be constructive and can help to develop an exchange of view points.

The members of LACOGNY voted unanimously at our last meeting to endorse the free expression of any member of ALAC. To deny any member the right to their opinion would be a policy that no one who is interested in our democratic system would want to happen.

Sincerely,
Janet Whitman, President
LACOGNY

The ALAC Bulletin. Dear Marianne.

Thank you so much for publishing the article by Jesse Warren in the February-March issue of the Bulletin. I am glad to see it has started an exchange of opinion among the members, something that is always interesting and absolutely necessary in a free society. What’s more, people who probably would not usually write a letter to the editor (such as I) have felt it necessary to do so.

I was truly astonished at the vitriolic nature of some of the letters published in response to the article. Personal attacks have no place in a discussion such as this. I found nothing mean spirited in the article. As a matter of fact, I thought it was well written and non-inflammatory. Members of ALAC should always feel comfortable in expressing themselves without fear of censorship or reprisal.

In my 26 years of association with the Lhasa Apso, I have seen aspects of the standard questioned and interpreted in many ways. During my first years with the breed, most of us were trying desperately to get rid of horribly undershot bites and scrambled teeth. Fronts were bad, rear were so often cow-hocked, coats left much to be desired in length as well as texture ... I could go on and on ... we had so much to improve upon, but the most important thing to me was the temperament! You can talk all you want about “chary of strangers” but when every veterinarian and groomer I met said they hated to see a Lhasa Apso come in because they were so mean, I knew we breeders had a major problem. I can honestly say that without losing any of their dignity, my dogs have changed that image for all who have come in contact with them.

In 1969, Ruth Smith because my mentor. Many will remember her as the breeder of Ch. Kyi-Chu Friar Tuck and a very outspoken person. She told me all she knew about many of the top Lhasas of the day, their backgrounds, the controversy surrounding the “pure” Hamiltons and much more. One thing she really impressed upon me was that we must be careful to keep the backs from getting too long and the legs from getting too short because achondroplastic dogs are susceptible to back problems such as have been experienced in the Dachshunds. In those days we were trying so hard to get those coats to touch the ground (it seemed that judges were only looking at coats!) that we had a tendency to go for a shorter leg. Ruth preferred a decent length of leg and a shorter back still within the standard of longer than tall ... for the sake of health.

My own dogs are on the small side of the standard, and I do believe that proportion is very important ... length of muzzle, size, and shape of head ... everything must be in proportion to complete the ideal picture. But I could visualize an 11-1/2” tall dog or a 9” bitch presenting such a picture. What a mistake if an otherwise great representative of the breed were to be disqualified because we took the words “variable” and “about” out of the Official Standard!

I am definitely in favor of educational programs, especially for judges. I think all members should be included in these programs, even those who have different viewpoints from the Officers of ALAC.

Sincerely,
Norma T. Perna
The ALAC Bulletin, Dear Marianne:

After reading the April/May 1995 Lhasa Bulletin, I am writing this letter as a concerned member of the American Lhasa Apso Club. The letter written by the president, Stephen Campbell, was quite refreshing in that he encourages and supports the healthy exchange of ideas. There were other positive responses by members, some who reserved their opinions, yet respected Jesse Warren's efforts to deal with such a controversial topic. I commend them, as well as Jesse, for keeping an intelligent perspective on the issues he brought forth. I also applaud the staff of the Bulletin for publishing all of these responses.

However, I am very disappointed by the negative responses by officers and board members. I don't think that any topic should warrant such an unprofessional personal attack on a fellow member. If the name of the author was left off the article, a quick phone call could have solved this minor problem. After reading these letters, I wasn't sure we read the same article—"A Measure of Good Sense". I guess people can change statements around to their own interpretation, if they choose to do so.

I have known Jesse Warren for several years as a fellow exhibitor and personal friend. His goals are those of any other honest, dedicated exhibitor/breeder—to breed a better Lhasa Apso. Any attack on him to tarnish his character or undermine his true motives is unjustified, under any conditions, let alone by people who do not know him.

Let's hope that in the future, all opinions will be respected as just that, opinions. Our members certainly have the right to voice their opinions and remark about their personal observations, without fear of being attacked personally, as well as ridiculed.

We are all, hopefully, in favor of preservation of the Lhasa Apso.

Sincerely,
Jo Ann Germano

Letter to the Editors & ALAC Membership,

We wish to congratulate Mr. Jesse Warren for his article in a recent edition of the Lhasa Bulletin, and hope this format becomes a regular feature (with proper credit given to the authors).

Jesse's article did not upset us nor cause us to write a letter personally attacking him nor urging immediate censorship of the Bulletin.

We are for an uncensored Lhasa Bulletin with equal opportunity for all to voice their own opinions and no group should be allowed to censor them. ALAC does have a disclaimer at the front section of issues, and since some board members have voiced their individual opinions others should have the same options.

We personally would liked to see standing committees, related to breed standard or AKC breed related issues, elected by the general membership, as well as the option to abolish these committees when the membership feels they no longer serve their intended purposes, and to elect new committees when the need arises.

The important positions of committee chairpersons should be elected each year by those members of those committees for a one year term which could be renewed, but not appointed to life tenure.

We urge freedom of speech and the press (Bulletin). We encourage free elections, and that members who desire to run for ALAC office not be afraid to do so, and have our support to voice their opinions whatever they may be.

Without allowing the members to voice their opinions and to vote on issues concerning the breed standard a few elitist members who feel they know what is best for all Lhasas could result in a single type of Lhasa which is desirable by only one segment of the membership. There us room for all Lhasas in ALAC and room for everyone's opinions.

Bosland tries to breed the healthiest, and best Lhasas we can. We breed against genetic defects and bad temperament, which we consider to be of greater importance than size, bites or other cosmetic imperfections. We try not to play God and hope to be forgiven if we make any unintentional mistakes. We try to do unto others (and Lhasas) as we would have them do unto us.

Everyone should listen and decide for him or herself, and not ridicule anyone's opinions out of self-righteousness or consider oneself better than anyone else. We will no longer be silent on such important issues.

Bosland wants to see reconciliation in ALAC, and some good come from this recent controversy.

Dear Marianne:
I was pleased to see the article "A Measure of Good Sense" appear in one of the recent ALAC Bulletins. The discussions that have followed have generated a great deal of strong opinions. I commend the staff of the Bulletin for publishing this letter, along with others in the last issue of the Bulletin.
As responsible breeders, there are many areas of conformation that we need to be concerned with. Why single out only one — size? Most judges are able to take the whole dog into consideration when awarding points, and shouldn't size just be part of their total evaluation?
I am completely against any form of measurement, especially having such written into the standard, and I believe we should focus on the dog as a whole, not zeroing in on only one thing!

Marion Knowlton
Breeder for 27 years

Dear Marianne:
I recently returned to the Lhasa Apso Show World after 20 years of peripheral interest. I am totally and utterly an aficionado of this breed. With enthusiasm I have embraced historical review of the Lhasa Apso and I have been actively interested in the show ring.
However, I have noted this feud that appears to have taken the Lhasa World by storm has taken on a "vicious edge". I was distressed by the intensity of anger that Jesse Warren's article has inspired. It appeared to take on a personal attack that could easily frighten a newcomer. In the world of science and research, which is my frame of reference, intellectual inquiry is encouraged. Differences of opinions, and debate over findings, has led to a richness of theory and an integration of thinking which certainly could not have evolved from blind faith.
Because I am a novice in this Lhasa world, I read thoroughly, I observe carefully, and I listen intently. I would like to believe that my enthusiasm and dedication to the breed would inspire those that are in official capacity with far more experience to be patient and provide education to those entering this arena.
I remain confused after reading the last issue of the "Bulletin" seemingly dedicated to Jesse Warren's "A Measure of Good Sense". Instead of feeling welcome to the breed and the show world, I get the impression that newcomers might feel chastised, humiliated or spurned for having a difference of opinion for merely presenting a controversial topic for intellectual debate.
I wonder how other new Lhasa Apso fans might feel investing time, money and emotional energy in a sport that on the face of it appears intolerant of differences of opinion. I hope this is not the case.

Sincerely,
Carol Adelman

Dear Marianne:
Having recently received my copy of the April/May Bulletin and finally having a chance to read and reread all of the letters which were written about "THE ARTICLE", and having thought this through thoroughly, I decided to also write.
I guess I must be mistaken, but I thought most of the members of ALAC were involved with purebred dogs, Lhasas in particular, as a hobby and that hobbies were supposed to be FUN.
I couldn't believe how vicious, self-righteous and vindictive most of the letters about this article were. I actually felt somewhat ashamed that most of the writers were friends of mine and people I had chosen to associate with (not people I HAD to associate with).
Do any of the writers of these letters truly believe that all the members of ALAC do not have the betterment of the breed at heart? Including Jesse Warren the author of the article in question! Although all of our opinions may not be the same, I am certain that each and every one of us truly believes that our views and opinions are the correct ones for the betterment of the breed. Unfortunately, or fortunately, we do not all always agree on our views or interpretations of the standard. And, it appears that several of the members are not even tolerant of each of us having a viewpoint or opinion.
The last time I read it, the first amendment to the Constitution granted all of us the right to free speech. Apparently that doesn't count in ALAC.
Although I don't completely agree or disagree with Mr. Warren's article, I certainly found it enjoyable to read. A fresh viewpoint and one worth entertaining. It was thought provoking and well written. And as an America and also a member of ALAC, I would hope that each of us could always voice our opinions even if others disagree.
The tone of many of the letters that were written in response to this article certainly made me lose respect for many of my fellow ALAC members. Their intolerance of others is appalling,
As my husband so appropriately puts it, "if you're not having fun, you're not doing it right". Hopefully, we will all continue to have "fun" in this sport/hobby, even when we agree to disagree. After all, this is not a life or death crisis, just a hobby/sport.

Sincerely,
Lynn Sabo Chapdelaine
Dear Editor,

The ALAC Board, after a concerted effort, has finally been made into a peaceful entity — no more arguments, no more fighting, no more character assassination. Nice, isn’t it? In his last letter to the members, I believe our President said “... it’s been so peaceful ...”.

I can but wonder “what price peace”? If “peace” means stamping out all opposition, all differing opinions, or anyone who dares speak out, what kind of peace do we have? A democratic process serves the opportunity to learn from one another and offers a forum for discussion and criticism in which all may participate. If the Board, as individuals, decide which opinions are valid and which are not — without representing all members in a fair and just manner, we have lost that democratic process. We have put our trust in the Board and Officers to handle all balloting in a fair and impartial manner. ALAC stands at a crossroads today: is this to be the organization of all the members, or just a favored few? Is this an “elitist” group that knows what is right for us and our breed (in their opinion), regardless of what we may think? Must letters be sent out to friends and acquaintances informing them of the “correct” choices when they vote? Is control so important that we cannot even listen to those people who happen to dissent with our opinions?

Friends, you cannot sit back and complain without playing your part in ALAC. If you don’t vote, you will not be represented. If you do not participate in the workings of the club through committees, through your breed clubs, and your willingness to work, your opinions count for little. You have virtually left the future of the Lhasa in the hands of a few who may or may not be committed to goals common to your own.

Dorothy Kendall

Editors’ Note: As you are aware, The Bulletin is mailed to all judges approved for Lhasa Apsos. It’s nice to know that some judges read as well as browse through the publication!

The Lhasa Bulletin
Dear Marianne,

I always enjoy reading The Lhasa Bulletin, and have just finished looking at the April-May Issue.

On page 60 is an article “Brewers Yeast—A Definite No-No.” I’m sure it was written with good knowledge and intent, but I find it in direct conflict with my experiences.

When I first began showing dogs in 1949, breeders were using Brewers Yeast to enhance appetites of poor eaters. The product was especially useful on males who lost their appetites when bitches were in heat, or for picky dainty eaters.

During my years as a handler, I preferred giving problem eaters a few brewers yeast tablets per day than “force feeding” them. A practice which I find disgusting, especially for the poor dog being forced.

In the mid-sixties a young Lhasa came to me for showing. She was lovely but too thin. Rather than keep her in the kennel, I asked her owner to stop at the pharmacy on the way home, buy a bottle of brewers yeast, and give the bitch three tablets per day. Soon the dog was begging for her tablets and her food, and came back to me in three weeks, eating very well and in nice weight.

I have since suggested this therapy to others and all have reported great results. Recently a Frenchie who hated to be put on the table for examination because he associated the table with forced feeding, followed my suggestion and his handler reports pleasure and astonishment at the change in the dog’s attitude about the table.

Thank you for a nice breed magazine.

EVERYTHING IN ITS PLACE
Breeders and judges, experts and critics
Amy Andrews

From Webster:
Judge: one qualified to have opinions on the worth or value of something.
Judgement: any decision or opinion. An evaluation or estimation.

At ringside, an observer can decipher impressions of the judging by listening to statements made by exhibitors.
Some exhibitors fail to understand the judge's selections. Others are enamored.
Despite differences in thinking, judges and exhibitors definitely have one major thing in common -- a strong desire to express opinion.

A judge once told me the success of a judge's career starts with a willingness and confidence to express opinion. That success continues with an active dedication to the learning process no matter the tenure of their career. Judges who take this attitude are judges worth showing to. They are deserving of their assignments
because they respect the breed and its breeders enough to continue educating themselves.

I remember listening to a judge comment that she always read through the standards of every breed in her assignment the night before judging them and always learned something new with each review. She never stopped learning because, in the very act of reviewing the standard, she opened herself up to the possibility of catching something new or augmenting something already established in her mind. I would hardly equate the standard with "inspired writing", but the learning process starts with its written word.
When I talk about a judge that is willing to continue to learn, I'm not referring to a person updated on the flow of current fashion or territorial tendencies of the breed but to an expert who renews the truth as written in the standard, the blueprint for the ideal Lhasa Apso.

So if the breeder is the established guardian of the breed, he has no
excuse to know less than the judge who is only expressing an opinion of the breeder's exhibit.

Though judges should be afforded respect and courtesy, they are still human beings, capable of greatness -- or error. It takes a judge with great strength of character to listen to comments and clearly and confidently express the reasoning behind his decisions. It takes an even stronger character to admit a need to "adjust" his standing policies in assessing Lhasa Apso. The strongest sense for a judge is the sense of hearing -- an open receiver to his peers, breed specific seminars, and the breeders! Which came first, the breeder with his breed or the judge? Obviously, the former for without the breeder, the judge has no job. So if the breeder is the established guardian of the breed, he has no excuse to know less than the judge who is only expressing an opinion of the breeder's exhibit. Breeders must be able to give the reasoning behind their exhibition of a particular dog.

Though there is no perfect Lhasa, breeders convey opinion simplified in the structure and type of their exhibit. They also convey excuses. Judges are forced to guess a breeder's opinion of size, head type, etc.
in the embodiment of their exhibit. If a judge sees dog after dog with a common fault
he will conclude the breeder experts are not concerned with this aspect of the breed.

Breeders need to take very seriously their responsibility to educating judges. We cannot say one thing and show the opposite.

Remember, a generous placement
by one judge does not make a dog perfect, nor the judge a breed specialist!! As breeders, we must keep our wins in the perspective with the competition. Though it is always fun to show to judges who have a reputation of unpredictability, it is the consistant judge who does credit to himself and the breed.

As breeders have a great responsibility to the breed. To ignore ANY aspect of the Lhasa Apso is to cheat ourselves, the breed, and those we attempt to educate from full enlightenment and disclosure. Breeders are responsible for opening doors and liberating knowledge because, through the exchange of knowledge, breeders and judges can work together for the preservation and betterment of the Lhasa Apso.
Thank you to all the judges who have appreciated this very special girl!

STAMP LOVERS AND COLLECTORS!

MAIL US NEW STAMPS AND WE'LL RETURN THEM TO YOU AFFIXED WITH AN OFFICIAL U.S. POST OFFICE CANCELLATION MARK!

Seriously... in an effort to return your Bulletin Advertising Photos in a timely manner, here are four steps you can take to help us, suggested by the Post Office:

1. Mail in a Photo Mailer like the one you received from your photographer.
2. Address this Photo Mailer to yourself.
3. Take it to the Post Office, have it weighed, and place the appropriate amount of postage on the Mailer.
4. The Post Office will then give you an envelope to put the Photo Mailer in. Address this outside envelope to ALAC Bulletin Advertising, and remember to add your return address as well.

An alternative? Send stamps, or if this is not possible, please enclose the correct cash amount. All checks go to our Treasurer, which makes for complicated bookkeeping. And, the Post Office is not accepting the metered postage tape some have enclosed, due to the date stamp. Your efforts and cooperation are greatly appreciated!

LYNNLAINE'S PAT HAND

Miss Pattie is now 10 months old and needs only a 3-point major to complete her Championship. We feel that this young bitch exemplifies the breed standard; being typey, sound, beautiful and having a wonderful disposition. Miss Pattie sends congratulations to littermate brother, Dexter, LynnLaine’s Stacked Deck, for his recent wins including Best Puppy at the Northern California Specialty.

LYNNLAINE’S DEALER’S CHOICE

Delana, Miss Pattie’s littermate sister, is also off and running at 9 months, with 5 points in her first shows. We’re very proud of this entire litter and are looking forward to LynnLaine’s Roulette and LynnLaine’s Texas Hold’em entering the ring this summer. They are from a repeat breeding of Chen Chen and Reddy and are waiting in the wings with Tex already taking a Group 1 and Group 2 at fun matches. Watch for Miss Pattie, Delana and Dexter throughout the country.

A SPECIAL AWARDS REPORT

The final list for plaques for the 1994 show year have been submitted to the printer. The plaques have been redesigned and I hope everyone will be pleased with the new design. I have tried to take care of some of the problems from past years’ awards. If you haven’t received a plaque due you, please write me with the dog’s name, owner, date finished, and date of Gazette publication. I will make sure you get your plaque.

When the Bulletin went to press last issue, I thought we would have three sizes of plaques. Since that time, it has worked out to only two sizes. Also, the price of extra plaques has not increased since the awards program began. I am sorry to advise that it is time for the cost of extra plaques to match what we are paying for them. Therefore, starting in 1966, the cost of small plaques will be $14.00 and the large plaques, $18.00. This is necessary and I appreciate your support on this issue.

There are also a few corrections in the eligibility of awards. To receive a ROM in Obedience, it takes only three (3) obedience titles to quality, not ten (10). Also, in order to keep the top 20 sires and dams list up to date, please keep records on your dogs and submit changes in status for the awards year to me. This would be a great help in keeping this tradition going.

You may start sending your award forms as soon as the new year starts. I realize that the dogs that finish in the last 3 months of the year will be published in the Gazettes of January, February and March. If your form has already been submitted, I can just check it against AKC Gazette records when they arrive. Next year we must adhere to the April 1 deadline for both forms and photos.

Remember, one award per form please, and if there is a special way you want your plaque arranged, please make this clear in words and drawing.

I think we will have a nice video program as Larry reports receiving many photos. This is something to think about when finishing a dog in the coming year. Save your favorite photo for the Awards Presentation and when you send your Awards Form to me, send on the photo and $3.00 to Larry Bruton. Don’t forget to mark the photo with dog’s name and award designation. We need your help to make this program fun for all; seeing the dogs is really a treat for everyone.

Bobbie Wood,
Awards Chairman
